

JANUARY

1934

Vol. XXXIV

No. 6

GRAY DAY — Looking down-town from the Front Campus. A photograph by Richard H. Anthony '25.

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

FOUNDED IN 1900

Published monthly, August and September excepted, by the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY, Inc., at Brown University, Providence, R. I.
Entered at the Post Office, at Providence, R. I., as second class matter, under the law of March 3, 1879 as told by a prominent Providence insurance man.

“Why I protected my Family with a LIFE INSURANCE TRUST”

I HADN'T been in the insurance business for very long when I discovered that the one purpose for which men purchase life insurance was too often defeated. I learned of many, many cases where substantial amounts of insurance money had been lost or dissipated in a very few years. The very protection which husbands and fathers had sought for their families was swept away.

“This set me to thinking.... What about my family?.... Would the proceeds of my life insurance suffer a similar fate?”

“I decided then and there that it was my duty to see to it that this money would be safe-guarded for their use. And the best way to do this was through a Life Insurance Trust.

“I talked it over with a trust officer. I explained exactly what I wished to accomplish —that I wanted the insurance proceeds invested and the income paid to my wife for as long as she lives, and then to my children—that if extra money is needed for the education of the children, or for any other emergencies which might arise, the principal may be dipped into.

“It gives me more satisfaction than I can tell to be assured that when the time comes this money will be kept safe for my family by a Company which has had more than 65 years' experience in such matters—and to know that my wife, and my children as they grow up, can go to the trust officers of the Hospital Trust Company with their problems.

“I am so thoroughly convinced that a Life Insurance Trust is the best instrument for carrying out the purpose for which life insurance is purchased that I always recommend it to all my customers who carry over $25,000.”

 Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company

Pawtucket — Providence — Woonsocket

→ We have no securities for sale ←

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Vol. XXXIV

PROVIDENCE, R. I., JANUARY, 1934

No. 6

This Matter of Brown Publicity

TO the alumnus away from the campus the problem of Brown publicity has always seemed a major one. Oftentimes he merely means that there should be more about the football team in the newspapers he reads, but usually he sees the truer, more important meaning of publicity. And so he welcomed the news that in October Brown had appointed a full-time publicity officer to serve as assistant to the Vice Presidents' office. The University had had a generous share of newspaper and other space before, largely due to the industry of the Alumni Office, but publicity was not properly a function of that office nor could full attention be devoted to it.

Now after two months of organized publicity at Brown, the vast nature of the work ahead has only begun to suggest itself. Stanton P. Nickerson '31, was assigned the post of publicity officer in charge of non-athletic publicity, athletic publicity remaining as before, under the control of the Athletic Council and its publicity aide, Joseph W. Nutter '24. Mr. Nickerson has wasted no time in attacking his task.

Some of Mr. Nickerson's time during the past two months has been devoted to "setting up the office." On the other hand, the major portion of his time has been devoted to the preparation of news releases. Relatively little time has been given to the making of long time plans. Events which deserved attention came in rapid succession and Mr. Nickerson has been kept busy keeping up with them. Much has already been done but much more remains to be done, according to a letter sent to Brown Club presidents as a "report of progress."

THE newspapers to which the Publicity Office sends news releases may be classified as follows:

1. Brown Daily Herald
2. Providence newspapers.
3. Newspapers in the immediate vicinity of Providence.
4. Metropolitan newspapers (Group I—in the larger metropolitan centers).
5. Metropolitan newspapers (Group II—in the smaller metropolitan centers).
6. Home town newspapers.

The Publicity Office has continued to cooperate with the Brown Daily Herald and has furnished a large number of stories concerning the University and activities on the campus. In this way, it is helping to educate the students concerning their own institution, its history and traditions, its work and welfare. This is a matter of major importance, in the opinion of the Administration, because of the far-reaching effect of such publicity in time. One of the best kinds of publicity which Brown can get, from the standpoint of its effect upon admissions, is the publicity which naturally results when students are conscious of the importance of the University and its influence. While this is "campus" publicity, immediately speaking, it eventually reaches out far beyond the campus.

WHERE Brown publicity has shown its greatest advance in two months' time is in the field of "home-town publicity." "At this point," in the opinion of one Administration spokesman, "we have made a very important move in the right direction."

"Students come to Brown University from a large number of communities all over the country and we are interested in maintaining and enlarging contacts between those communities and the University. We want Brown University brought to the attention of the families, friends, and school-mates of our students in these communities. For some time we have realized the need for more publicity of this kind."

"Mr. Nickerson focused upon this part of the problem at first because it could be gotten under way without much difficulty. News stories of this type are readily available. While such news releases make large demands upon the time and energy of the office personnel, we are reasonably sure that they will be received and used by home town newspapers. They carry with them not only publicity for Brown

PUBLICITY AIDE

Stanton P. Nickerson '31, Assistant to the Vice Presidents' Office, as he looked when he was graduated.

University, but information which is of definite local interest.

"It is because of this local interest that we can depend upon a considerable amount of publicity of this kind if we furnish the news releases. We do not need to give very much consideration to the problem of inducing editors of home town newspapers to use the stories."

THE metropolitan press (and this brief article considers only the newspaper phase of publicity) presents another problem entirely. There is not the opportunity for specific local interest. Here, too, there is the greatest possibility for wasted effort, as a look into any city editor's waste-basket will shortly convince you. Contrary to the lay impression, the editor is never hard up for copy. With every conceivable agency submitting publicity, with the paper watching its own news sources, with ambitious staff men and free lances turning in good stories, and with the various associations providing supplementary material not of local origin, the paper invariably has far more copy than it can possibly use. Competition for space is keen.

Accordingly, it is not surprising that the new publicity office has made little progress here in its first moments of activity. Personal contacts will play some part here, but for the most part it will be consideration of the newspaper's wants that will eventually make progress. The interest of that paper's readers in Brown cannot be taken for granted—they are too many. The material about Brown must be interesting for what it is and for the way it is presented, as Mr. Nickerson from his practical newspaper experience well realizes. He has already made some progress in the metropolitan field, especially with respect to "school and college" sections and educational pages.

In Providence there is little room for increasing space, for a generous relationship between press and college has already been developed and the city has a natural interest in the campus. He has maintained that status.

THE following summary of news stories supplied to home town newspapers tells of the activity in this sector in the two months ending Dec. 16. The releases have been sent to home town newspapers concerning the activities, distinctions, awards, etc., of students in residence at Brown. In most cases the news releases were "personalized" so that the student's name and address and, in some cases, the name of the parent and the secondary school which he attended, were given special mention. The news releases of this type are enumerated below:

News releases on the Dean's List to 67 home town newspapers and 62 secondary schools in 12 states; on Graduate Fellowships and Scholarships to 139 home town newspapers and 126 colleges in 19 states; on Advanced Degrees Awarded in October to 23 home town newspapers and 3 colleges in 4 states; on Statistics on the Freshman Class to 18 home town newspapers in 3 states; on Brown University Orchestra Concert to 16 home town newspapers and 14 secondary schools in 5 states; on Freshman Pledges to Fraternities to 198 home town newspapers and 99 secondary schools in 18 states; on Scholarship Awards to 127 home town newspapers and 74 secondary schools in 13 states; on Entrance Premium Awards to 17 home town newspapers and 15 secondary schools in 3 states; on Sock and Buskin Play to 16 home town newspapers and 12 secondary schools in 7 states; on the Camera Club Exhibit to 13 home town newspapers and 9 secondary schools in 6 states, and on Class Elections to 8 home town newspapers and 4 secondary schools in 3 states.

In a frank letter sent to Brown Club presidents not long since, Vice President James P. Adams has discussed several phases of the problem of newspaper publicity. "The officers of administration," he concluded, "believe that a very promising beginning has already been made, but we recognize that much remains to be done."

Chiefly Concerning the Campus

Membership in A. A. U. Offered Brown

BROWN UNIVERSITY has been invited to membership in the Association of American Universities and has accepted according to an announcement from the office of President Clarence A. Barbour.

The Association of American Universities was organized in 1900 with an original membership of 14 institutions: California, Catholic University, Chicago, Clark, Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Stanford, Wisconsin, and Yale.

During the period 1904 to 1932 15 additional institutions were invited to membership: Virginia, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Ohio, Northwestern, North Carolina, Washington, McGill, Toronto, and Texas. Brown University was invited to membership at a meeting held at Princeton last October.

Brown University is one of the few institutions without professional schools, to be invited to membership in this Association. The only other institutions in this position are Princeton and Clark, both original members.

The Association of American Universities was established for the consideration of problems of mutual interest by institutions whose educational programs include graduate work in the arts and sciences. It has also been concerned with the establishment and maintenance of standards of graduate instruction and research. One of its most important functions has been the study of the quality of undergraduate instruction in the colleges and universities of the United States and Canada and the classification of such institutions from the standpoint of the quality of their undergraduate work.

* * * * *

Encouraged in His Fight

ARNOLD McDERMOTT '36, who once scooped the press by getting an interview with Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes '81, was heartened in his fight for health recently by a letter from Mr. Hughes that expressed admiration for his fight for recovery. McDermott had been trapped in his room during the summer vacation after his Freshman year. When fire broke out, he was forced to drop from a second-story window to a cement walk below, fracturing his spine in so doing. For three months he lay in bed in a cast before the cast was removed. President Barbour has been among his visitors, as have Captain-elect Karaban of the football team and Howard Lewis '26, his former instructor in high school.

CONVOCATION SPEAKER
Rufus Jones, University Trustee

A Campus Miscellany

THEODORE FRANCIS GREEN '87, Governor of Rhode Island, refuted arguments that "dictatorships are to the public good," when he took part in one of the Erasmians' discussions before vacation.

Providence preparatory schools again took more than half of the entrance premiums this year, but John Wilder Tukey, who came to Brown without ever having attended a school of any sort, was the outstanding winner, along with Richard C. Scott, a Moses Brown graduate. Other schools at which the prize-winners prepared were Bennett High of Buffalo, N. Y., Pawtucket High, Providence Classical, Worcester Academy, Hope Street High, Harrison (N. Y.) High, East Providence High, Roxbury School, and Blair Academy.

The combined Brown University and Pembroke College orchestras and the Pembroke College Glee Club had Amy Ward Durfee as soloist in their opening concert in Faunce House.

B. C. A. workers have been assisting the Rhode Island State probation department by adopting as friends some of the boys paroled from the reform school. In each case the student enters the home of the juvenile delinquent and continues contact with his charge.

The B. C. A. also conducted a drive to collect old clothing on the campus for distribution among needy students.

"Golden streams of oratory awakened the plaster Greeks and Romans who adorn the walls of Manning as the contestants painted in contrasting pigments the glorious advantages and the horrible faults of a compulsory activities fee," writes the undergraduate reporter who covered the class of 1880 discussions. The winner was S. B. Drury '34, with J. M. Kaplan '34 and M. N. Zalkind '35 also cited by the judges.

"The Sophomore" Returns to College

THE first performance of a Brown play, a dialogue written by Samuel Randall, 1804, was reproduced with a delightful felicity in Faunce House several weeks ago. While mentioned in the account of the Institute of Art, in which program it had a part, the production of "The Sophomore" by the Paravent Players of Providence under the direction of Prof. S. Foster Damon, curator of the Harris Collection, deserves longer consideration than it was possible to give it in the last ALUMNI MONTHLY.

Prof. Damon impersonated President Asa Messer, head of Rhode Island College in 1804, and the setting of the Commencement exercises of that year was reproduced. It was at that Commencement that the "dialogue" was first presented.

The comedy tells of Ichabod, whose parents are about to prevent his return to college and force him to work on the farm. He wants to become a doctor, a lawyer, or, as a last resort, "even a teacher," but it seems an impossibility until Henry, his friend, suggests that he feign madness. Ichabod thereupon spouts Latin conjugations at his mother and father and dances in insane gyrations. When Henry explains that it has all been brought on because the boy cannot return to college, the parents relent and restore peace by granting the desired permission. The boy's description of what he had learned in college seemed particularly to amuse the large audience.

* * * * *

Visitors Heard on the Campus

SPEAKERS of the month who appeared before campus audiences included the following: Princeton's "money doctor" Prof. E. W. Kemmerer, Prof. Edwin C. Kemble of Harvard, Prof. Rufus N. Jones of Haverford, Max Mentor, the German actor, Dr. B. Jessen of the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton, Prof. James Franck, Nobel prize-winner in physics, Dr. G. R. Wendt of the Institute of Human Relations at Yale, Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, director of the American School of Prehistoric Research, Elliott H. Whitlock, smoke abatement engineer, A. B. Rose of the Boston Weather Bureau, Prof. Donald H. Menzel of the Harvard Observatory, Prof. Edgar Allen of the Yale Medical School, and the Duchesse de Clermont-Tonnerre.

* * * * *

The Saltiness of the Sea

"WHY Is the Sea Full of Sea-Water?" asked Prof. Norris W. Rakestraw at the Faculty Club Luncheon at which he spoke recently. "By very definition," he replied, "even if it were full of tomato soup, the contents of the sea would still have to be sea-water." But he went on in more scientific fashion to describe discoveries made in his research, which the Associated Press reported on at some length not long ago.

* * * * *

Appointed to Chemistry Faculty

DR. RAYMOND MATTHEW FUOSS, National Research Council fellow now at the University of Leipzig, Germany, has been appointed assistant professor of chemistry at Brown.

Effective with the beginning of the second semester, Dr. Fuoss' appointment will bring him to Brown University to assist Dr. Charles A. Kraus, research professor of chemistry and director of the Newport Rogers Chemical Laboratory. Dr. Kraus has just accepted the appointment as field secretary of the National Research Council Fellowship Board in physics, chemistry and mathematics, and will be on part time at Brown during the second semester.

Dr. Fuoss received the degree of Bachelor of Science at Harvard University in 1925. He was Sheldon Travelling Fellow from Harvard at Munich, Germany, in 1925-1926, Austin Teaching Fellow at Harvard during the first semester of the academic year 1926-1927, and research chemist for Skinner, Sherman and Esselen, Inc., of Boston, from 1927 to 1931.

Brown University awarded him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in June, 1932. He was research instructor in chemistry at Brown University during 1932-33, when he resigned to accept a National Research Fellowship in Chemistry with an opportunity to study abroad. The Fellowship Board of the National Research Council has granted him a leave of absence to return to Brown University as assistant professor of chemistry.

* * * * *

Groundwork on the Historical Catalogue

THE full committee on the 1934 Historical Catalogue of the University met for the first time Dec. 15 in the office of Professor James P. Adams, vice president, and with Dr. H. C. Bumpus '84 as chairman discussed questions as to the kind of material to go into the 1934 edition, its form, its length, and so on. Several valuable suggestions made by F. B. Wiener '27 during the summer were also considered. Much of the material for the Catalogue is already available, and the request is that all alumni and former students who to date have received blank forms will fill out the forms according to directions and return them with as little delay as possible.

In addition to Dr. Bumpus and Professor Adams, present at the meeting were Henry S. Chafee '09, William Davis Miller '09, Professor W. T. Hastings '03, W. B. Farnsworth '17, A. H. Gurney '07, S. P. Nickerson '31, as a guest, and Miss Louise Bauer, Pembroke '31, who will have charge of directing details of the work of compilation.

* * * * *

The Start of League Debating

BATES defeated Brown in the first debate of the season in the Eastern Intercollegiate Debating League, the question being, "Resolved that the principles of the NRA become permanent features of the American governmental policy." The two teams were tied for the leadership of the league last year, but Bates won the unanimous verdict of the judges in Faunce House on Dec. 8. The Oregon cross-examination system was introduced into a league debate for the first time.

By a close decision the University of Pennsylvania eked out a victory from Brown in Philadelphia. The votes of the two judges were divided so that the ultimate verdict rested with the audience. By 91-87 the audience made the home team the winner.

* * * * *

Representing Aimee McPherson

E. A. (SHAD) ADAMS '12, is attorney for Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, the evangelist, who is being sued by her husband, David Hutton, for divorce. Shad, acting for Mrs. Hutton, filed a cross-complaint late last month in Los Angeles, charging mental cruelty and marital shortcomings against Mr. Hutton.

On the Sock and Buskin Playbill

WITH a combined cast of alumni and undergraduates Sock and Buskin, the Brown University Dramatic Society produced "Rip Van Winkle" in continuing a most successful season. It was presented on Dec. 13 and 14 for the subscribers, and on Dec. 15 and 16 the house was sold out to the Smith College Club of Rhode Island for benefit performances.

The play, made famous by Joseph Jefferson, was seen in Providence for the first time in many years, and its rollicking humor, pathos, and good old melodrama pleased large audiences throughout the run of five performances, including a special matinee for school children.

J. Lamson Eddy '16 was an excellent Rip, while John Balmer's Nicholas Vedder and the villainous Van Bummel of Theodore L. Sweet '22 were others prominent in the cast. Guest artists included Esther Brintzenhoff as Dame Van Winkle, Lois Lindbloom as Judith Van Winkle, Lydia Broomhead as Judith 20 years later, and Betty Rand as Katrina. Other players were Luther Hoyle, Harry Colony, Lewis B. Glassford, Woodworth Carpenter, and William G. Sumner. The direction was by Leslie T. Chase with Richard W. Armington staging the production.

On account of midyear examinations no productions are scheduled for January, but Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr. will give two Sunday night readings which will be open to subscribers only. On March 12, 13 and 14 Charles Rann Kennedy's "Servant in the House" will be presented. This drama in a more serious vein will be very appropriate for the Lenten season. The final production of the year is scheduled for April 23, 24 and 25, and will be a romantic melodrama which will be selected later. The two previous major bills were Shakespeare's "Richard III" and Molnar's "The Play's the Thing."

With the advanced standards which have been set by the Society it was thought desirable that steps be taken to make a permanent organization which would continue from year to year. A corporation, known as "Sock & Buskin, Inc.," was formed in June, 1933 under the laws of Rhode Island. The following officers were elected: President, Leslie T. Chase; Vice President, Ben W. Brown; Secretary, S. Everett Wilkins; Treasurer, R. C. Fuller; Publicity Manager, T. L. Sweet; Stage Manager, Francis Armington.

The above officers together with one alumni director, William B. Farnsworth, and two undergraduate directors, A. C. Fenton and George Baker, and two faculty directors, Samuel T. Arnold and James P. Adams, constitute the Board of Directors.

SCENES FROM THE SOCK & BUSKIN REVIVAL OF "RIP VAN WINKLE"

Photo by Des Roches Studio.

Brunonia Plays the Game

FOUR victories were the meed of Brown indoor sports teams before the Christmas holidays interrupted play. The hockey team had won its single game by defeating M. I. T. 3-2 in a stirring overtime encounter, the Freshman basketball five had beaten its only opponent, while the varsity in the same sport had broken even in four engagements.

Tom Taylor, resuming the coaching post he has relinquished to his brother for the last few years, had one of the largest hockey squads in Brown history to work with, being forced to cut it to manageable size shortly before the opening of the schedule. That cut reduced the squad from 50 to 22, of which he used 18 in the victory over Technology. Sophomores are leading the fight for positions on the line-up with Captain Ray Chace.

Harrie Hart scored two of the Bears' goals against M. I. T., the second coming after two minutes of overtime play, and Olney was the other sharpshooter, assists being credited to Chace and Legg. Fourteen penalties were called. Starting Howard at goal, Appleyard and Butler on the defense, and Chace, Mickey Walker, and Henry Hart on the forward line, Coach Taylor also used Wright, Kerins, Legg, Harrie Hart, Olney, Raymond, Smithson, Shepherd, Dear, Chapin, Tracy, and Benton.

Eleven games, eight of them at home, remain to be played, including one with West Point, and two with Northeastern and Boston University. The listing is as follows:

Dec. 15, Brown 3, M. I. T. 2; Jan. 5 Massachusetts State; 10, Northeastern Varsity and Freshmen; 12, Colby; 16, Springfield, Varsity and Freshmen; 19, Boston College; 23, University of New Hampshire; Feb. 15, Middlebury; 21, Northeastern at Boston; 24, Army at West Point; 27, Boston University at Boston; March 2, Boston University.

NEW strength advanced from last year's Freshman team promised aid to the year's basketball campaign, which opened with defeats from Northeastern and Tufts which were balanced by success against Boston University and Clark. Captain Hammer, Malkowski, Floren, Morse, Reed, Samdperil, and Karaban are veterans from last season, while Larry McGovern, Noonan, and Johnson were among the leading Sophomore aspirants. Morin has also seen service in each game, while Gurll has played three times, and others twice.

The first game was a heart-breaking defeat in the late stages, the final score being Northeastern 37, Brown 36. One point behind with four minutes to play, Brown could not find the basket. The score had been repeatedly deadlocked at various times. McGovern and Morse, each of whom scored 10 points, led the way for Brown, but it was in weakness from the foul-line that the team suffered.

Coach Kahler is said to have negotiated with the Herald for a banner-line on page one the day of the Clark game, a paid ad reading "Wanted 1300 Brown Undergraduates to Attend Brown-Clark Basketball Game." The attendance was not that, but the Brunonians went on a scoring spree that would have rewarded it. In beating the visitors 42-25, the home team brought its scoring up to the point-a-minute average. McGovern scored 15 points, with Morse, Karaban, and Florin also effective. After the score had been tied 5-5, the Bruins registered 17 straight points, settling the issue there.

With Grinnell alone scoring as much as the whole Brown team, Tufts turned the Bears back 32-17. Against B. U. the Brown forwards had their eyes on the basket again, however, McGovern leading the scoring with 19 of the 43 points despite the fact that Coach Kahler used plenty of substitutes. The final score was 43-26.

The same night the 1937 five opened its season with a 30-22 triumph over the B. U. Freshmen. Biggs at center, and Meyers at right forward were the principal scorers.

Visits of Yale and Harvard to the Brown court are the high spots in the basketball schedules arranged for the year. They are as follows, together with the results of the games to date:

VARSITY—Dec. 9, Northeastern 37, Brown 36; Dec. 13, Brown 42, Clark 25; Dec. 16, Tufts 32, Brown 17; Dec. 19, Brown 43, Boston U. 26; Jan. 6, M. I. T. at Cambridge; 9, Tufts; 12, Middlebury; 16, New Hampshire at Durham; 20, Connecticut; 24, Rhode Island at Kingston; Feb. 17, Massachusetts State; 21, Wesleyan at Middletown; 24, Harvard; 28, M. I. T.; March 3, Yale; 7, Rhode Island State; 10, Providence College.

FRESHMAN—Dec. 19, Brown Freshmen 30, Boston U. Freshmen 22; Jan. 6, M. I. T. '37 at Cambridge; 9, Tufts '37; 20, Connecticut State '37; 24, Rhode Island '37 at Kingston; Feb. 21, St. George's at Newport; 24, Harvard '37; 28, M. I. T. '37; March 3, Dean Academy; 7, Rhode Island '37; 10, Providence College '37.

CAPTAIN-ELECT

Bill Karaban, veteran fullback, who will lead the 1934 football varsity

The Program for Wrestling

THE finest card in recent years has been provided the wrestling squad this season, with Coach Cole's old school, Iowa State, promising to bring a strong team to Providence for the feature meet. It is coached by Hugo Otopolik, who directed the American Olympic wrestlers. Yale, Army, and Harvard are other opponents.

VARSITY—Jan. 6, M. I. T.; 11, Rochester Athenaeum and Mechanics Institute; 13, Springfield at Springfield; 20, Yale; Feb. 17, Army at West Point; 22, Iowa State; 24, Harvard at Cambridge; 28, Tufts at Medford; March 6, pending; March 9 and 10, New England Intercollegiates at Springfield.

FRESHMEN—Jan. 6, M. I. T. '37; 13, Springfield '37 at Springfield; 20, Yale '37; Feb. 20, Dean Academy; 24, Harvard '37 at Cambridge; 28, Tufts '37 at Medford; March 6, pending; 9 and 10, New England Intercollegiates at Springfield.

* * * *

The Last of 1933 Football

WILLIAM J. KARABAN of Beacon Falls, Conn., has been elected captain of the 1934 football varsity, following his valuable service as fullback.

Football gate-receipts at Brown for 1933 were about the same as those in the preceding fall, the Athletic Office told the Associated Press statistician, who found the parity typical of New England colleges in general. With 20,000 at the Princeton game and 18,000 at the Holy Cross game, there was a chance for an improvement over 1932, but the Colgate game on Thanksgiving Day drew only 12,000, half the crowd of last year.

Football letters were given to 19 members of the Varsity at the close of the season, the recipients being: D. Allen, J. Allen, Appleyard, Batchelder, Brown, Buonanno, Caito, Capasso, Emery, Etchings, Fraad, Hart, Karaban, Lear, Olson, Sayward, Summerfield, Patton, Walker, and Manager Pottle. Twenty-five received Freshman numerals.

Joe Buonanno, captain of the 1933 football varsity, and Maury Caito, end, were in the line-up of the "North" eleven which defeated the "South" in a charity contest in Brooklyn at Christmas time. While the North was able to gain chiefly by resort to forward passes, Buonanno contributed the longest run of the game in a 35-yard dash. The two Brown players received honorable mention on a number of All-American and All-Eastern elevens, as did Mickey Walker and Karaban.

* * * *

Attractive Track Schedules

THIRTEEN meets, including seven dual engagements, three open meets and three Intercollegiate offerings, comprise the winter and spring schedule for the Brown Varsity track men in the schedule announced by Dr. Frederick W. Marvel, Director of Athletics. The list is one of the finest ever offered to a Bruin track team.

Dual meets are listed with Columbia, M. I. T., New Hampshire and Rhode Island, outdoors, and Northeastern, Boston University, and W. P. I. indoors, with the usual participation in the indoor and outdoor I. C. A. A. A. A. meets, the New England Intercollegiates, and the Prout, B. A. A. and University Club meets. The schedules follow:

WINTER—Jan. 13, Northeastern; 27, Prout Games at Boston; Feb. 10, B. A. A. meet at Boston; 17, University Club meet at Boston; 24, W. P. I.; 28, Boston University; March 3, I. C. A. A. A. A. at New York.

SPRING—April 21, Rhode Island; 28, New Hampshire at Durham; May 5, Columbia at New York; 12, M. I. T. at Cambridge; 18 and 19, New England Intercollegiates at Springfield; 25 and 26, I. C. A. A. A. A. at Philadelphia.

* * * * *

Abolish Team Captains?

QUESTIONING the necessity of team captains, the Brown Daily Herald wrote editorially as follows:

In sports in which co-operation and team-work are necessary for success, a man who is a recognized leader and who is well liked by the others on the squad is in a position to exert considerable influence. There are times when he may become the deciding factor between victory and defeat. Sometimes there is an excuse for having a captain in football, basketball, baseball, hockey, and the like.

On the other hand, occasions arise when a captain is incapacitated and is unable to play. There are other times when he loses interest in the sport or else loses the confidence of his teammates. In any of these cases he is a decided detriment to the outfit. It would be better if there were no captain at all. He has no real duty except in football. In this sport the captain calls at the toss-up. A water boy could do this quite efficiently.

* * * * *

Notes from Other Sports

HENRY TOLMAN, 2nd, of Derby, Conn., has been named captain of the 1934 soccer varsity after a brilliant season as goalie that won him All-American honors. He was picked on George Collin's first team in the Boston Globe, Tuller and Murray receiving honorable mention. Twelve letters and 13 numerals were awarded in the sport.

Sophomores won the fall inter-class track meet by taking seven first and enough other places to total 61½ points, nearly twice the score of their nearest rival. The Juniors tallied 33½ points, the Freshmen 18, and the Seniors 13. Sophomore Larry McGovern scored 16 points, while D. Whiteside '36, who took both hurdle events, scored 11, and R. L. Pierson '36 the same number in the weight events. The Dekes were leaders in the fraternity standing, with Betas and Phi Gams second.

Brown was represented at the intercollegiate lacrosse meetings in New York early in the winter, the chief outcome of which was a decision to increase the size of the playing field to 90 by 60 feet.

Members of the Brown Yacht Club have been taking part in the frostbite races in Narragansett Bay this winter.

* * * * *

"Jim" McEwen Dead at 91

JAMES MCEWEN, for 28 years carpenter, handyman, janitor and caretaker at Brown University, died on Dec. 1 at Cedar Lake, Ind., in his 92nd year.

Mr. McEwen was known to hundreds of Brown graduates, undergraduates, and members of the faculty as just plain "Jim."

He went to Brown University in 1887 as carpenter and handyman. Later he took up janitor work in the university's chemical laboratory under Prof. John Howard Appleton. He retired at Brown at the beginning of the term in September, 1917.

Funeral services were held in Providence.

"Wing's Overwhelming Victory"

WINNING by a better than two-to-one vote, Judge George C. Wing, Jr., '00, has begun his duties as Mayor of Auburn, Me., for the years 1934 and 1935. The Lewiston Daily Sun said that "Wing's overwhelming victory (the balloting took place Dec. 13) was greeted in stunned silence by members of rival factions who admittedly were doing all that could be done to beat him." The winner received 1,893 votes against 910 and 861 votes, respectively, for his nearest opponents. He was ahead in every ward in the city, showing strength that made his most outspoken political rivals gasp.

"To my neighbors and friends who have helped and supported me in my campaign for mayor of Auburn, I am very grateful," he said. "For my opponents I have esteem. I bear no grudge. I trust, in the office to which I have been chosen, I may demean myself as to merit the continued confidence and respect of my fellow citizens."

Judge Wing, a practising lawyer, has been in political campaigns before, and knows how to plead his case. He was a member of the Maine State Legislature in 1909, 1921, 1923 and 1925; he has also served as a member of the Auburn school board and as Judge of Probate.

"Wing's sweeping victory," said the Lewiston Sun, "shows the high esteem in which Auburn voters hold not only their mayor-elect but also the city charter. The winner's platform called for nothing more than strict adherence to it. His government will be that prescribed by the charter."

* * * * *

Leader of the Registrars

THERON CLARK '95, now in his tenth year as Registrar, University of Southern California, is again president of the Pacific Coast Association of Collegiate Registrars in which he has been a constructive influence for some years. The membership of the Association is about 75 out of a possible 120 institutions eligible from the five far western states.

For the eighth annual convention held during the late fall at Sacramento Junior College, Sacramento, Calif., Clark arranged the program, presided at the opening session, and received some fine compliments for his work. One of the papers, "Junior College and Upper Division; A Four-Year Unity," was read by Arthur A. Macurda '95, director of Cumnook Junior College. It is also of interest to mention that J. P. Mitchell, Registrar of Leland Stanford, is the son of Dr. Mitchell who formerly had an office with Dr. George L. Collins '73 on Benefit Street, Providence.

* * * * *

A Testimonial to Col. Rose

COL. HENRY BRAYTON ROSE '81, secretary of the Providence School Committee for 44 years, heard many a pleasant word spoken about himself and his public career at the testimonial dinner given him at the Plantations Club, Providence, Dec. 6. Mrs. Rose was also present to share her husband's praise. Alumni recall Colonel Rose's services as Commencement Marshal.

"It is difficult not to say things in praise of him that might seem extravagant," President Barbour said, in a speech in which he put emphasis on the word "integrity" as descriptive of Colonel Rose's work in public and in private. Other speakers were Isaac O. Winslow '78, former superintendent of schools; Deputy Superintendent William H. Eddy '92; Judge Howard B. Gorham '98; Francis J. Brady '16, chairman of the school committee; William F.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT

Col. Henry B. Rose '81, for 44 years secretary of the Providence School Committee, shown here in the role in which he was more familiar to Brown men—Commencement Marshal.

Redding, who has succeeded Colonel Rose; and Albert A. Baker '84, his old friend.

Colonel Baker, in his talk, told of Colonel Rose's career from undergraduate days and said: "His efficiency and reliability in all his undertakings in life have been demonstrated beyond cavil." Colonel Baker recalled a sentence written by President Faunce in 1916, the 35th anniversary of Colonel Rose's class, with regard to filling life "full with public service and devotion to the ideals that we gained under the elms at Brown," and concluded:

"According to that standard of excellence, Henry Brayton Rose has made good in his long devotion to his Alma Mater, and also in his long service in the military arm of the State, and also in the patriotic societies of the State, and also in his long and unparalleled service in the important office of secretary of the Providence School Committee, so that he well deserves and is entitled to the benediction of his Alma Mater."

* * * * *

A New Honor for Dean Randall

FORMER DEAN OTIS E. RANDALL was elected president of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the 48th annual meeting held in Boston last month. Dean Randall has been a vice president of the association, a member of its important committees and active for years in its behalf. Nearly 400 delegates from New England colleges and secondary schools gathered for the meeting, including three of New England's newest college presidents, Dr. James B. Conant of Harvard, Dr. Bancroft Beatley of Simmons, and Dr. Hugh F. Baker of Massachusetts State College. Dean Randall succeeds William E. King, principal of Deering High School, Portland, Me.

The Delegations They Pledged

Fraternity Pledges

THE 20 fraternities at Brown University received pledges from 219 members of the Freshman class when rushing reached its climax on Nov. 27. The figure, while six less than last year's, represents the same proportion of the class joining fraternities—56%. Phi Gamma Delta pledged 25 men, while Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Kappa Epsilon, each pledging 19, had the next largest delegations.

A few more changes, to which the interfraternity rushing agreement is annually subjected, were embodied in the 1933 regulations. Free intercourse between Freshmen and fraternity men was permitted after the opening of college, except that the former were not allowed to visit the chapter houses nor be pledged until the conclusion of rushing.

The actual rushing period began on Nov. 9, and Freshmen were allowed to visit fraternity houses for three afternoon hours and one evening hour on that night and on the two succeeding Thursdays. Visiting was allowed between 2 and 8 on Nov. 25 and between 2 and midnight on Nov. 26. During the rushing period the fraternities were denied all contact with Freshmen after 6 P. M. on Mondays until the Thursday following.

Following a closed period on the day of pledging, the bids were issued through the regular system, once known as Union bidding but now carried on in Sayles Hall. Freshmen who did not sign pledges at that time were denied the opportunity of accepting later bids until after the Christmas holidays.

The number of men joining each house was as follows: Alpha Delta Phi 17, Alpha Tau Omega 15, Beta Theta Pi 4, Delta Kappa Epsilon 19, Delta Phi 4, Delta Tau Delta 10, Delta Upsilon 9, Kappa Sigma 4, Lambda Chi Alpha 5, Phi Delta Theta 9, Phi Gamma Delta 25, Phi Kappa Psi 17, Phi Sigma Kappa 19, Pi Lambda Phi 14, Psi Upsilon 14, Sigma Chi 2, Sigma Nu 4, Sigma Phi Sigma 4, Theta Delta Chi 16, and Zeta Psi 8.

A LIST of fraternities and their pledges follows:

ALPHA DELTA PHI—Ross Angier, Newton, Mass.; W. C. Armstrong, Cleveland, O.; J. H. Beebe, Wellesley, Mass.; D. W. Bradley, Duluth, Minn.; A. L. Brown, Jr., Norwich, Conn.; D. K. Fox, Orient, N. J.; C. E. Hughes, III, Riverdale-on-Hudson, N. Y.; W. R. Hulbert, Jr., Chicago, Ill.; J. A. Jacobs, Montclair, N. J.; J. W. Littlefield, Providence; R. L. B. McConnell, Wakefield; R. D. McIntyre, Milwaukee, Wis.; H. F. Miller, Brookline, Mass.; Austin Peck, Providence; E. L. Rand, Providence; R. M. Tracy, New York; and H. H. Wallace, South Pasadena, Cal.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA—S. J. Beale, Sandwich, Mass.; T. B. Bearse, Hyannis, Mass.; J. H. Biggs, Worcester, Mass.; H. B. Carey, Springfield, Mass.; J. D. Casey, Providence; P. F. Clements, Washington, D. C.; J. E. Corkey, New London, Conn.; R. D. Emery, New York City; W. V. Heard, Cambridge, Mass.; J. F. McCoy, Pawtucket; R. H. Mangiante, Providence; J. H. Scribner, Philadelphia, Pa.; B. R. Vaughan, Jr., Melrose, Mass.; C. R. Williams, Woonsocket; and A. V. Young, Providence.

BETA THETA PI—E. M. Crossley, Plainfield, N. J.; H. N. Neubert, Brooklyn, N. Y.; F. T. Leighty, Oak Park, Ill.; R. W. Smith, Lakewood, O.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON—G. M. Cohan, Jr., New York, N. Y.; D. F. K. Condon, Yonkers, N. Y.; W. A. Connolly, Greenwich, Conn.; A. M. Crowley, New York City; D. J. Driscoll; L. A. Fluck, Jr., Northfield, N. J.; W. Ganzenmuller, III; M. E. Hemmerdinger, C. A. McCarthy, E. W. Nash, Providence; B. C. Boyle, New York, N. Y.; W. A. Ostergard, Canton, O.; A. A. Pastoriza, Jr., West Indies; C. H. Pinkham, 2nd, Lynn, Mass.; E. L. Primm, Jr., St. Louis, Mo.; C. S. Wheeler, Riverdale, N. Y.; and Kenfort Williams, Hollywood, Calif.

DELTA PHI—C. S. Cleasby, Jr., Cranston; J. M. Crawford, Parkersburg, W. Va.; J. H. Sherman, Providence; and M. H. Schwartz, Jr., River Forest, Ill.

DELTA TAU DELTA—E. K. Bancroft, East Greenwich; R. S. Cairns, Garden City, N. Y.; H. A. Harrington, Port Chester, N. Y.; J. F. B. Henry, D. H. Jamieson, Seacliff, N. Y.; F. C. Lough, Fall River, Mass.; E. P. Orsenigo, New York City; J. K. Pierce, Norwich, Conn.; F. C. Stuart, Lynn, Mass.; and H. L. Toof, Providence.

DELTA UPSILON—D. M. Angle, Danville, Pa.; R. N. Dye, East Providence; R. D. Messenger, Providence; W. W. Moss, Jr., Providence; D. G. Munro, Bogota, N. J.; J. R. Rigby, Taunton, Mass.; R. C. Scott, Vineyard Haven, Mass.; F. H. Swaffield, Taunton, Mass.; and W. A. Tucker, South Hadley Falls, Mass.

KAPPA SIGMA—R. H. McConnell, Newport; J. D. Powell, Norfolk, Mass.; E. B. Sanger, Jr., Bangor, Me.; and P. W. Theobald, Chicago, Ill.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA—C. H. Bryant, Jr., Hackensack, N. J.; C. C. Cain, III, Attleboro, Mass.; D. G. Clark, Jr., Providence; W. C. Johnson, Pawtucket; and G. W. White, Attleboro, Mass.

PHI DELTA THETA—F. K. Beaulieu, Milton, Mass.; J. F. Doble, New York City; P. H. Ensign, Newark, N. J.; D. T. Kyte, Scranton, Pa.; J. W. Manchester, Columbus, O.; W. R. Michael, Newport, R. I.; J. Navas, Scranton, Pa.; W. E. San Filippo, Newark, N. J.; and P. J. San Giacomo, Newark, N. J.

PHI GAMMA DELTA—R. E. Clarke, Manasquan, N. J.; C. N. Corey, Newburyport, Mass.; R. K. Cunningham, Attleboro, Mass.; W. T. Davol, Manchester, N. H.; W. C. Forsman, Detroit, Mich.; D. Haggerty, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; H. E. Heydt, Bronxville, N. Y.; W. J. Hines, Providence; H. E. Johnson, Jamestown, N. Y.; W. H. Lineburgh, Bridgeport, Conn.; F. E. Luszy, Clinton, Mass.; T. R. McCabe, Derby, Mass.; C. W. McGuire, Hartford, Conn.; J. C. MacNeill, Philadelphia, Pa.; C. S. McPhee, Jr., Cranston, R. I.; A. B. Marcom, Braintree, Mass.; R. L. Newton; H. L. Paine, Jr., North Grafton, Mass.; W. C. Prout, Boston, Mass.; J. C. Sanderson, Worcester, Mass.; M. S. Shaw, Webster, Mass.; J. H. Skilling, Newton Highlands, Mass.; L. E. Stanhope, Worcester, Mass.; J. F. Tausch, Jr., New Rochelle, N. Y., and C. M. Thompson, Amityville, N. Y.

PHI KAPPA PSI—C. F. Arrott, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa.; R. H. Barker, Westfield, N. J.; C. W. Cashman, Jr., Providence; H. H. Conklin, Detroit, Mich.; W. A. Donovan, Brooklyn, N. Y.; R. G. Holt, Pawtucket; W. P. Horn, Jr., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; J. T. Johnson, 2nd, Pleasantville, N. Y.; F. D. Love and R. A. Love, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. J. Mendel, New York; J. R. Mulholland, Eustis, Fla.; C. A. Slater, Jr., Washington, D. C.; F. E. Strong, Worcester, Mass.; G. E. Wall, Larchmont, N. Y.; C. F. Walz, Jr., Plainfield, N. J.; and G. W. Paulsen, Englewood, N. J.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA—L. C. Adams, West Newton, Mass.; R. N. Adamson, Jackson Heights, N. Y.; Paul Ambrette, Brooklyn, N. Y.; W. E. Baker, Jr., Providence, R. I.; R. J. Bryce, Mount Morris, N. Y.; J. W. Bush, Jr., New Britain, Conn.; B. H. Cate, Jr., Providence; R. W. Clemence, Providence; F. T. Eddy, Pittsfield, Mass.; B. R. Gordon, Schenectady, N. Y.; R. B. Halborg, Upper Montclair, N. J.; L. O. Heinold, Jr., Cranston; F. J. Lasher, Providence; A. M. MacLeod, Jr., Paterson, N. J.; M. W. Quigley, Providence; E. J. Schiller, Pawtucket; C. A. Steinsack, Newton Centre, Mass.; E. B. Washburn, Gardner, Mass.; and W. H. Webster, Winthrop, Mass.

PI LAMBDA PHI—A. A. Alexander, New York; J. N. Atlas, Newark, N. J.; D. L. Daniels, Newton Centre, Mass.; M. H. Darman, Woonsocket; M. G. Frank, New York; H. R. Greenspan, Paterson, N. J.; H. I. Hassenfeld, Providence; F. A. Hellman, Providence; R. J. Kurlansky, Milford, Mass.; J. D. Mann, Albany, N. Y.; H. R. Nances, Brooklyn, N. Y.; P. N. Rudnick, Brooklyn, N. Y.; A. I. Saklad, Kennerly, Mass.; and B. G. Shevelove, South Orange, N. J.

PSI UPSILON—H. M. Adams, Jr., Nayatt Point; J. J. Brown, River Forest, Ill.; W. W. Burbank, Larchmont, N. Y.; D. L. Cass, Waterloo, Iowa; C. A. Connell, Scranton, Pa.; L. Griggs, Hartford, Conn.; D. I. McCahill, Pittsburgh, Pa.; J. M. Mackie, Milwaukee, Wis.; G. N. Morgan, Longmeadow, Mass.; K. L. Perry, Rye, N. Y.; J. H. Read, New Bedford, Mass.; G. H. Simpson, New Haven, Conn.; P. J. Watson, Jr., New York; and C. M. Lamb, Jr., West-erly.

SIGMA CHI—R. O. Cowan, Lansdale, Pa.; and T. L. Hearst, New York, N. Y.

SIGMA NU—W. A. Bailey, Jr., Plainville, Conn.; R. W. Murdock, Providence; H. A. Stretch, Jr., Larchmont, N. Y.; and W. S. Thompson, Jr., Greenwich, Conn.

SIGMA PHI SIGMA—U. H. Pettine, Providence; A. W. Rawcliffe, Acushnet, Mass.; F. C. Tyler, Fairhaven, Mass.; and A. W. White, Harrison, N. Y.

THETA DELTA CHI—Palmer App, Evanston, Ill.; R. H. Blake, Jr., Barrington; L. H. Danforth, Brockton, Mass.; W. S. Eckert, Jr., New York; G. A. Geyer, Mount Lebanon, Pa.; F. R. Goff, Barrington; H. L. Henry, New York; A. H. Krause, Lebanon, Pa.; D. J. McConeghy, Coudersport, Pa.; C. J. Myers, Hackensack, N. J.; W. D. Reynolds, Providence; F. A. Sawyer, Providence; P. M. Shires, Providence; W. G. Tyrrell, Belmar, N. J.; D. S. Widnall, Hackensack, N. J., and Tyler Micoeau, Providence.

ZETA PSI—H. H. Bowles, Brockton, Mass.; S. A. Briggs, Providence; C. R. Flanders, Derbyline, Vt.; J. M. Fuller, North Adams, Mass.; R. M. Lener, Brooklyn, N. Y.; D. R. McGovern, Providence; T. C. O'Keefe, Providence, and W. E. Ryan, Providence.

Under the Elms

BY THE CUB

THE hockey squads have passed up one glorious opportunity, according to one story that trickled around the campus at the start of the rink season. They use as their home ice that at the Rhode Island Auditorium on North Main Street, which is also used for games and practice by the Rhode Island Reds, the local professional team, several amateur clubs, high school and prep school teams, and a skating club. Naturally it is a problem to arrange practice hours for the Brunonians, with everyone eager for as great a share of the time on the ice as possible.

Arrangements were finally made, however, with what was, under the circumstances, a fair allotment to Brown, even if not all that one might desire. Coach Tom Taylor was told what those hours were, and then his informant is said to have added, proudly:

"We've also arranged to give the rink to the Brown men for practice every morning from six-fifteen to seven-fifteen."

* * *

Before 10 o'clock in the morning one must not park an automobile on any of the streets near the Brown campus. The Providence police authorities published the edict a year ago and were unmoved by the stewing that followed, especially among students who had early classes. This year, with classes starting on the hour, undergraduates with 10 o'clocks were accustomed to arrive about five minutes before and park, hoping that the police would allow that much leeway. The police seemed to, until an early winter morning when seven officers arrived armed with blue tags and earnest faces. With fines at $2 each, considerable campus money went out of circulation.

* * *

One freshman, a law-abiding citizen by his own admission, parks his car a half-mile or more from the campus. Twice in succession he stopped in the same location, but next time he moved. On the second occasion a head had appeared at a window of the house before which he had halted.

"Yoohoo," said the head. "Would you mind parking somewhere else? This is a beauty parlor, and it annoys the customers to look out and see that old maroon thing of yours."

* * *

Alex Slader, 'varsity pitcher, who is earning his way through college as a transport pilot, was over Providence harbor the other day when it started to snow, cutting off visibility and making it dangerous to try to return to the State airport at Hills Grove. Instead he made a neat forced landing near a lumber yard on the waterfront and laughed at the harbor master who was chugging about on the river looking for him.

* * *

After the team had completed its season, the Freshman soccer players were summoned to the Aldrich gym to elect a captain. Although the team had played through a reasonably successful schedule without a leader, it was deemed indecent that there should be no Freshman soccer captain during the winter and spring months when there is no Freshman soccer team. At first it appeared that the Freshman soccer players had solved the situation themselves, for not enough attended the first meeting to make an election legal. But tradition had its way, and Roland Chase of Vineyard Haven (brother of Joe Chase '33) is now Freshman soccer captain.

* * *

Football is equal to the classroom for the training it gives a college man, said Charles P. Sisson '11 at the win-or-lose banquet. The University is permitting its professors to continue their regular courses just the same.

Activities of the Brown Club

Succession in Office

PRESIDENT HENRY S. CHAFEE '09 of the Associated Alumni announced at the December meeting of the Executive Committee the following changes in the officers of the association:

R. G. Sykes '21 of Boston to succeed Dr. Edwin A. Locke '96 as vice president of the New England District, which includes all the New England States except Rhode Island; Ralph M. Brown '25, Chicago, to be vice president of the Central District in place of Sherman M. Strong '15, also of Chicago. The new directors in New England are Ralph A. Armstrong '17, Springfield, Mass., and C. F. Andrews '26, North Haven, Conn. Armstrong succeeds himself, while Andrews replaces Fred H. Gabbi '02, Portland, Me.

In the Central District the directors will be Harold L. Madison '01, Cleveland, in place of Everett T. Marten '25, also of Cleveland, and John B. Abbott '15, St. Louis, Mo., succeeding Arthur Kiernan '11, Detroit.

All of the officers who are stepping out were the first to be chosen when the Regional Plan, by which the country is divided into five districts for the purposes of alumni work, went into effect in 1930. They have co-operated well with the Alumni Office, and they have the thanks of the association and of the present officers for their work.

President Barbour attended the meeting of the Executive Committee to discuss, at

Mr. Chafee's request, qualifications necessary in new Alumni Trustees from the Brown Corporation viewpoint. The six-year terms of four Alumni Trustees, who are not eligible for renomination until after the lapse of a year, will expire in June. The men are: Thomas B. Appleget '17, New York; Professor George Grafton Wilson '86, Cambridge, Mass.; President Harvey N. Davis '01 of Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J.; and Wallace R. Lane '99, Chicago. The Advisory Council, at its meeting next month, will nominate for these vacancies. All members of the Council, as well as officers of all Brown Clubs, have been asked to submit names for consideration on or before Jan. 12, when the Executive Committee agreed to meet to go over the list.

Dean Samuel T. Arnold was also the guest of the Executive Committee. He gave an informative talk on "Non-athletic Activities and Their Supervision." Dean Arnold has been supervisor of such activities at Brown since 1919. Nelson B. Jones, Jr. '28 is acting as his assistant at the present time.

* * *

Presidential Itinerary

PRESIDENT BARBOUR, making his first visit of the year to Brown Clubs at a distance from Providence, is arranging to speak before the Brown Clubs of Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore early next month. The tentative schedule follows: Feb. 7, Washington; Feb. 7 or 8, Baltimore for luncheon; and Feb. 8, Philadelphia. Before he returns to the Hill, Dr. Barbour will attend the meeting of the Genesee Society in New York to meet old friends from Rochester, N. Y., in particular, and from different parts of the United States in general.

* * *

New York

ONE of the most attractive social affairs arranged by the Brown University Club in New York in recent years is announced for Thursday evening, Jan. 18, when the club will be host to the University Glee Club at a concert to be given in the grand lounge of the clubhouse. Members of the Princeton Club will be guests of the Brown Club.

The University Glee Club, the best known of its kind in the United States, is composed of about 120 active members, representing 50 different colleges. The Club sang over the radio on a national hook-up for the first time last fall and after the broadcast 87,000 letters were received from the radio public. The Brown members of the Club are Howard C. Barber '99, Albert E. Evans '16, Philip Cox '23, C. Fred Brace '30, Ernest G. Hapgood, Jr. '31, William G. Hardy '31, and W. Boardman Leonard '31. Over 500 are expected to attend the concert, hence invitations are necessarily limited to members.

The Brown Club squash team has played two matches to date, losing the first to the Columbia Club by a score of 4-1. In the second match, Brown beat the Dartmouth Club 3-2. The following are the members of the Brown team: John C. Gillies '31, Abner I. Gilbert '26, Richard Small '32, George Lysle '28, and Clyde C. Barrows '29.

(The club's Bulletin is one of the finest publications which a local group has published.—Ed.)

* * *

Chicago Preparations

WITH Dean Samuel T. Arnold, Thomas W. Taylor, assistant to Professor F. W. Marvel, and Coach D. O. McLaughry as guests, the Brown University Club of Chicago was preparing for a big meeting on the night of Thursday, Dec. 28, while the visitors from the University were in the city attending various athletic and physical education meetings. We hope to have full report of the dinner in the next issue of the ALUMNI MONTHLY.

P. A. Robbins, Cornell '94, a gold mining engineer who has been a student of gold and its world movement for many years, gave a clear-cut, non-technical talk on the "Gold Standard" at the November luncheon of the Club in Mandel's Men's Grill. Edward B. Mayer '09 was chairman, and F. Abbott Brown '26 master of ceremonies. Mayer told of his trip to Providence and the Brown-Princeton game; Ward Jackson '32 made a brief, appealing talk on the Chicago Brown Club Prize Scholarship Fund; and then Mr. Robbins was introduced.

"I have never seen a Brown luncheon group give any speaker such close attention," wrote our correspondent. "In fact, they all overstayed their luncheon periods."

The attendance was excellent, 32 Brown men being present. The guests included William G. Strong, Cornell '94; R. S. Drew, Wisconsin '13; and C. M. App, Illinois '06, father of Palmer App '37, one of the John Hay Scholars.

* * *

New Haven

DR. CHARLES S. HEDRICK of Berkeley Divinity School was the guest and speaker at the December meeting of the Brown Club of New Haven, held at the Hotel Taft, with Louis F. Horvath, honorary member, as host at dinner. Dr. Hedrick gave the Club a highly enlightening talk on conditions in Germany as he had observed them last summer. Questions followed, and then there was informal discussion. President A. L. Breckenridge '11 announced that President Barbour would be the guest at the next meeting, Jan. 26. A. K. Litchfield '22, of Bridgeport, was unanimously elected a vice president of the Club.

* * *

Boston

REV. DR. WILLIAM L. STIDGER '12 of the Boston University School of Theology and pastor of the Copley Square Methodist Church, was the speaker at the December luncheon of the Brown Club of Boston at the Chamber of Commerce, Friday the 15th. Dr. Stidger gave a talk before the Club nearly three years ago that proved to be one of the best on record. So he was invited to return. The Alumni Secretary planned to go to Boston to hear him and to lunch with the Club, but had to give it up because of the unusually bad condition of the roads that day.

Engineers in New York

TWENTY-FOUR members of the Brown Engineering Association met for lunch at the Hotel Wentworth, New York City, Dec. 7, with former Dean Otis E. Randall as guest. Dean Randall told briefly of his teaching career, of the development of the Division of Engineering, and of the remarkable progress that he has seen in the mental and physical sides of education. He believed it to be essential that colleges and universities emphasize more and more the spiritual side of education "if the world is to emerge from its present state and its peoples are to trust one another in setting up a more nearly perfect social order." Dean Randall's keen analysis, coupled with his mature judgment, provided an inspiration for all present.

The Engineers will have a luncheon at the Hotel Wentworth, Jan. 18, and will gather for their annual meeting at the Brown Club, Thursday evening, Jan. 25. President Barbour will be the guest at that time.

Brown and the Learned Societies

MORE than 100 of the Brown University faculty and administration attended meetings of the learned societies during the Christmas holidays, a record number for late years made possible by the fact that the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was held in Cambridge, Mass., at M. I. T. More than 70 from Brown attended the latter sessions. Others, journeying farther, brought the traveling mileage of the group up to 30,000.

Many of the Brunonians had official duties as officers in the various societies or contributed to the programs by reading papers.

Dr. Hans Kurath, professor of Germanic languages and general linguistics, and director of the Linguistic Atlas of the United States and Canada, read a paper, "Linguistics and the History of Population, with Special Reference to New England," at one of the meetings of the Cambridge science conference. Bernard Bloch, also associated with the work on the Linguistic Atlas, read a paper, "The Linguistic Atlas of the United States and Canada: Problems in Field Work."

Prof. Leonard Carmichael, Prof. Harold Schlosberg, Prof. Charles Coronios, Dr. Lester Beck, Dr. Herbert Jasper, and assistants and graduate students in the department of psychology attended meetings of the psychology section of the association.

Sessions relative to their fields of interest were attended by Prof. Charles A. Kraus, Prof. Norris W. Rakestraw and Dr. Laurence S. Foster of the department of chemistry, and by Prof. William H. Kenerson of the division of engineering.

Nine members of the department of physics were present at meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and also the American Physical Society and the American Association of Physics Teachers in Boston. They are Prof. Albert deF. Palmer, Prof. Harry E. Farnsworth, Prof. Robert B. Lindsay, Prof. Carl W. Miller, Dr. Robert L. Andrews, Dr. Bernard A. Rose, Maurice K. Laufer, R. B. Randels and Frederick E. White. Prof. William A. Noyes, Jr., of the department of chemistry attended the American Physical Society conference.

From the department of biology, Prof. Philip H. Mitchell, Prof. Charles A. Stuart, Prof. Ivon R. Taylor, Prof. William C. Young and Prof. William A. Castle attended meetings of the biology section at the Cambridge conference.

Economics section meetings were attended by Prof. George E. Bigge, Prof. William A. Brown, Jr., and Prof. Chelcie C. Bosland of the department of economics. Prof. Charles W. Brown, Alonzo W. Quinn, John A. Young and James S. Beach of the department of geology were to attend meetings of the geology section.

Dr. Albert D. Mead, vice president of Brown University, attended various sessions on biology and related fields. Prof. C. E. Ekstrom and Prof. Andrew H. MacPhail of the department of education attended education and psychology section meetings.

Meetings of the botany section were attended by Prof. Walter H. Snell and Dr. George L. Church of the department of botany, accompanied by Dr. Alma M. Waterman and Malcolm A. McKenzie of the Government Forest Pathology Laboratory. Dr. Snell also was present at meetings of the American Phytopathological Society and the American Mycological Society in Boston, and Dr. Church at the Botanical Society of America sessions.

Ten professors and 24 students in the department of mathematics were at meetings of the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Association of America held in Cambridge in conjunction with the American Association for the Advancement of Science conference. Papers were read by Prof. Jacob D. Tamarkin, Prof. Cletus O. Oakley, Prof. Clarence R. Adams, J. A. Clarkson, Dr. R. H. Cameron and Dr. Charles Hopkins.

"PRESIDENT" RANDALL

Brown's former dean has been chosen head of the N. E. Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Other mathematicians attending these meetings were Dean Roland G. D. Richardson, Prof. Raymond C. Archibald, Dean Clinton H. Currier, Prof. Albert A. Bennett, Prof. Ray E. Gilman, Prof. Charles H. Smiley, Dr. Hans Lewy, Dr. A. H. Smith, Sylvia P. Anthony, Max Astrachan, Mildred E. Carlen, John D. Coats, D. J. Colbert, E. G. H. Comfort, J. S. Dunk, W. E. Ekman, Margaret Gurney, H. J. Hamilton, William Heltzel, J. D. Hill, David A. Jonah, W. H. Journey, P. T. Maker, E. S. Quade, C. B. Tucker and Carol E. Tucker.

Prof. Archibald also attended meetings of the History of Science Society and Prof. Smiley sessions of the American Astronomical Association in Cambridge.

The conference of the American Philological Society in Washington, D. C., was attended by Prof. Benjamin C. Clough, Prof. Russel M. Geer, Prof. Charles A. Robinson, Jr., Prof. Herbert N. Couch and Theodore P. Theodorides of the department of Greek and Latin classics. Prof. Clough read a paper, "The Bibliography of Current Excavations in Rome," and Mrs. Couch, who also went to Washington, read a paper, "The Coinage of Argos."

Dr. Guy S. Lowman of the Linguistic Atlas staff was in the capital for the Linguistic Society of America conference, accompanied by Dr. Kurath. Dr. Lowman's paper was "The Dialects of Virginia and North Carolina." Dr. Kurath presented a paper, "Some Problems in New England Speech."

The Modern Language Association of America met in St. Louis, Dec. 28-30. Prof. Robert H. Williams of the department of romance languages and literature read a paper there, "Manuscript Material on the Influence of Boccacini in Spain." Wilbur M. Frohock, assistant in the department, read a paper, "Lasserre and Maurras." Edwin M. J. Kretzmann of the department of German attended this conference.

Representatives from the department of philosophy who went to Amherst for the meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association Dec. 28-30 were Prof. Curt J. Ducasse, Prof. Ralph M. Blake, Prof. Arthur E. Murphy and Prof. Charles A. Baylis. Two graduate students in the department, Owen N. Hillman and John W. Blyth, accompanied them.

Prof. Murphy was one of the three invited participants in a symposium, "The Status of Mind in Reality." Prof. Ducasse read a paper, "The Attributes of Material Things."

Carl C. Branson of the department of geology read two papers before the Chicago meeting of the Paleontological Society of America.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association conference in Chicago was attended by Dean Samuel T. Arnold, D. O. McLaughry and T. W. Taylor, assistant director of athletics. Mr. McLaughry read a paper before the College Gymnasium Directors' Association, which was also meeting in Chicago.

BACK ON THE JOB
Prof. Fred W. Marvel, recovered from his spell of illness that kept him from football games and mid-winter meetings.

For the first time in more than 25 years, Dr. Frederick W. Marvel, who is now the dean of athletic directors in the nation, was unable to attend the National Collegiate Athletic Association's meeting. Illness prevented him from making the trip.

Eight members of the faculty went to Philadelphia, Dr. Robert E. L. Faris of the department of political science and sociology was present at the meeting of the American Sociological Society, Prof. Matthew C. Mitchell of the same department attended the meeting of the American Political Science Association, Dr. Gilbert E. Case of the department of education was at the annual meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary society. From the department of economics, Prof. Hugh B. Killough, Prof. A. Ford Hinrichs, Prof. Willard C. Beatty, Prof. James H. Shoemaker and William W. Turner attended the sessions of the American Economic Association.

Brown University was represented at the Organic Chemistry Symposium held at Cornell University by Prof. Robert F. Chambers and Dr. Charles B. Wooster of the department of chemistry.

Prof. Henry T. Fowler, Prof. Millar Burrows and Prof. Dudley Tyng of the department of Biblical literature went to New York for the meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature and for the conference of the National Association of Biblical Instructors, where they read papers.

* * *

Prof. Kraus' New Post

PROFESSOR CHARLES AUGUST KRAUS of the University Chemistry Department has been appointed Field Secretary of the Fellowship Board in Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics of the National Research Council, effective January 1, 1934. He will continue his work at Brown on part time.

As a Field Secretary of the Fellowship Board, Professor Kraus will be engaged in a nationwide survey of graduate instruction in the fields of Physics, Chemistry, and Mathematics and particularly of the National Research Council Fellowship Program in these fields. This survey will bring him into contact with all of the leading graduate schools in the country, and it is presumed that the survey will affect the future policies of the Fellowship Board.

The National Research Council was organized in 1916 by the National Academy of Sciences as a war measure for the effective organization of the scientific resources of the country. In 1918, President Wilson issued an executive order establishing the Council to stimulate and promote co-operative research in the mathematical, physical and biological sciences and in the application of these sciences to engineering, agriculture, medicine, and other useful arts.

In 1919 fellowships were established in the physical sciences (mathematics, physics and chemistry). Since that time four hundred young men and women in the United States and Canada who had already attained the doctorate, have received fellowships with generous stipends for periods ranging from one to three years. Approximately sixty persons now hold these National Research Council Fellowships and are carrying on their studies either in America or in Europe.

The biological fellowships were established in 1923 and since that time three hundred persons have been awarded fellowships. Approximately sixty persons now hold National Research Council Fellowships in this field.

* * *

With the Faculty

PROFESSOR THEODORE COLLIER of the Department of History spoke on "Dangerous Currents in World Politics" before the Clerical Club of the Diocese of Rhode Island, Dec. 5.

Professor Matthew C. Mitchell of the Department of Social and Political Science is giving a Massachusetts State University Extension course in Fall River under the title, "The New American Government." There will be 16 lectures in all.

Professor James H. Shoemaker of the Department of Economics discussed "Economic Methods and Aims of the New Deal" at the November meeting of the St. Paul's Men's Club, Pawtucket. He has also spoken before several groups during the past month on economic topics.

Lester L. Lapham, Bursar, read a paper on "Collection of Student Fees" at the 14th annual meeting of the Association of University and College Business Officers of the Eastern States in Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8 and 9. He cited the procedure at Brown and made suggestions resulting from his experience with undergraduates here, particularly in times of economic stress.

Professor S. Foster Damon, together with Dr. Bliss Perry and Robert Hillyer of Harvard, was a judge in the prize contest to select an international hymn written to the first sixteen bars of the "Ode to Joy" in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. The winners, announced last month, were Mrs.

Josephine Daskam Bacon, the novelist, and Miss Rosalie Hickler of Waltham, Mass.

Dr. Walter G. Everett, Professor Emeritus, is on his way to Berkeley, Calif., where he will give the annual Foerster Lecture on Spiritual Philosophy at the University of California. His subject will be "Life of the Spirit."

Professor Leslie E. Swain of the Department of Physical Education spoke at the 25th reunion of the Hope High School 1908 football eleven, which won the Rhode Island and later the New England interscholastic championship, in Providence on Nov. 29. The eleven was the first that Professor Swain ever coached. Professor Swain has also recently given before the Young People's Group of the First Baptist Church a series of three talks on the general subject, "College Carry-overs for Christians."

Professor A. Ford Hinrichs sees peace threatened by the rising of economic nationalism, he told the New Jersey Committee on the Cause and Cure of War at Lakewood on Dec. 7.

Nelson B. Jones, manager of Faunce House, was elected president of the Association of College Unions at the 14th annual convention held at Ohio State University last month.

addresses, a reminiscence of the 30th reunion, and a memorial to the classmates who have died since that gathering.

The reunion committee is made up of the following: James H. Harris, Chairman; Charles C. Remington, Secretary; Frank E. Richmond, Treasurer; Herbert O. Brigham, William P. Comstock, Dr. Charles O. Cooke, Charles B. Dana, Ralph C. Estes, Charles K. Francis, Charles I. Gates, Dr. Nat H. Gifford, Benjamin W. Grim, Dr. Carlos G. Hilliard, Dr. Henry W. Hopkins, Charles A. Hull, Irving O. Hunt, Revere W. Kent, Wallace R. Lane, Harry H. Mallory, Dr. Fred A. Simmons, Charles H. Smith, Edward A. Stockwell, Frederick A. Vose, Hon. Charles A. Walsh, Raymer B. Weeden, Howard H. Wilkinson, Alonzo R. Williams, and William W. Wyckoff.

Information about the following is sought: Frank W. Asquith, Special Student; Robert B. Austin, Non-graduate; Francis X. Belanger, Special; Alfred T. Clarke, Non; Berton H. Cooper, Special; Rev. Charles J. Engstrom, Special; Thomas Jacob, Special; Nels Johnson, A.B.; Harry B. Levis, Non.

George D. Church, returning last month after a six weeks' vacation in Florida, has begun work as vice president and director of admissions of Westminster School, Simsbury, Conn.

Brunonians Far and Near

By ALFRED H. GURNEY '07
Secretary of the Associated Alumni

Passed Bar Exam

FIVE of the fifteen lawyers who recently passed the bar examinations in Rhode Island and became members of the bar last month are Brown graduates. They are Kingsley L. Bennett '25, Harvey E. Nair '28, Hyman Lisker '29, Maurice W. Hendel '30, and Woodworth L. Carpenter '30.

Chief Justice Charles F. Stearns of the Rhode Island Supreme Court swore in the new attorneys on Dec. 8, the ceremony taking place for the first time in the new Supreme Court at the junction of College Hill and Benefit Street. Judge Herbert L. Carpenter of the Superior Court and Mrs. Carpenter were present to see their son, Woodworth, take the oath.

* * *
1868

THE class of '68 was graduated sixty-five years ago with thirty-one members; today there is only one member left—William E. Lincoln, son of John Larkin Lincoln of the class of 1836, who was Professor of Latin at Brown for almost fifty years. Lincoln is also the lone survivor of the Brown chapter of the Chi Psi fraternity which became dormant in the 70's, and has the longest service of any of the present trustees of the University, heading the list in the catalogue. His house is at 815 Amberston Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., where since 1869 he has been a member of the Y.M.C.A. and of the First Baptist Church (most of the time a deacon and a trustee of the church). At the time of his retirement in 1926 he was president of the H. K. Porter Company, builders of locomotives.

With his son, Kirke P. Lincoln '02, and daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Mary Jane, Lincoln is now at his southland home on Siesta Key, Sarasota, Fla. "This is the land of palmetto and cocoanut palms, and of all sorts of flowers," he wrote recently. "From the premature November winter with Pittsburgh smoke and ice and snow to Sarasota was an enjoyable automobile trip of 1283 miles over very good roads . . . Pennsylvania and Florida politics are not so far apart."

1874

Abel P. Tanner, retired from the practice of law in New London, Conn., where he was dean of the bar, is now living in North Stonington, Conn.

1878

George F. Weston's correct address, he writes is R. 3, Box 22, Los Gatos, Calif.

1880

Augustus L. Abbott now has his law offices at 1123 Federal Commerce Trust Building, 208 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo.

Walter F. Angell, head of the legal firm of Edwards & Angell, observed his 75th birthday in Providence on Dec. 17.

1882

Charles L. Bartlett, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust Company, has gone to California for the winter. His address there is in care of the Vista del Arroyo Hotel, Pasadena

1884

James W. Johnson is secretary of the Isaac G. Johnson Company, manufacturers of steel castings, in Spuyten Devil Parkway, Spuyten Devil (the Bronx), New York City.

1893

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, on leave of absence from the University of Wisconsin, is directing the San Francisco School of Social Studies and during the present academic year is living at 2111 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

1894

George S. Ellis, manager of the Portland, Me., branch of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company, continues active in executive work as he swings into his 69th year. They say that he can swim his mile easily down at Old Orchard Beach in the summer.

1897

Allen H. Chase assures us that his correct mail address is P. O. Box 713, La Jolla, Calif.

"For the first time in fifteen years," the New York Times said, all of the Rockefellerers were together at Pocantico Hills, Tarrytown, N. Y., for the Christmas holidays. The reunion at the family home was because of the illness of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who was not able to go to Florida for his annual Christmas party.

1899

With the issue of an attractive, persuasive four-page news letter, the class has already started publicizing its 35th reunion, which will be held at the Hotel Breakers, Narragansett, June 15, 16, 17 and 18. The publication, edited by Benjamin W. Grim, gives a roster of the class members and their

Dr. Waldo G. Leland has been appointed a member of the advisory committee of the Historic American Building Survey, which is to be carried on under the direction of the Civil Works Administration, with headquarters in Washington.

Former Judge Roscoe M. Dexter, in a speech before the Kiwanis Club of Pawtucket last month, called for "an awakened public opinion and action by the General Assembly in January to safeguard the integrity of our caucuses and primaries." He told of abuses of which he had intimate knowledge and outlined suggestions to improve the situation. The Providence Journal commented the speech editorially as "timely and to the point," and added: "It is now a proper time to raise the issue of fairness again because public opinion normally requires a considerable period in which to express itself, and because it is desirable that when the General Assembly meets it should be aware of the public's attitude toward this question."

Judge Fred T. Field spoke for the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts at the testimonial dinner given to Judge Kenneth L. Nash '12, new presiding justice of the District Court of East Norfolk at the Hotel Statler, Boston, Nov. 16.

Dr. Edward Herbert's son, Dr. Edward Herbert, Jr., is an interne at St. Luke's Hospital, New York City.

1901

Irving L. Woodman has left the Woodman family farm in Penacook, N. H., where he has been for the past year, and is traveling in the interests of Wildmere, his summer camp for boys.

Roger C. Turner is an insurance broker, with his office at 126 Market Street, Paterson, N. J.

1902

Rev. J. Francis Russell, colporteur for the Rhode Island Baptist Convention, received high praise for his field work in the annual report of the Convention for 1933. "He has given many evangelistic and missionary addresses," the report said. "He has assisted several churches in the renovation of their

Brown Alumni MonthlyPublished at Brown University by the Associated Alumni

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23

Managing Editor

ARTHUR BRAITSCH '23

Business Manager

HENRY S. CHAFEE '09

Managing Director

HENRY G. CLARK '07

For the Alumni Fund

ALFRED H. GURNEY '07

Secretary

GERTRUDE ALLEN MCCONNELL '10

Pembroke Correspondent

Subscriptions, $2 a year. Single copies, 25 cents.
There is no issue during August or September.Entered at the Providence Post Office as second-class matter.

Vol. XXXIV JANUARY, 1934 No. 6

buildings. He has helped the Woman's Society to place travelling libraries in outlying sections of our field. He is acting at the present time as interim pastor for two of our small churches. . . . He has travelled 12,165 miles, made hundreds of calls and visits, distributed nearly 600 garments to the poor and needy. . . . He loves the work and gives himself wholeheartedly to it. He is a dynamo of spiritual energies."

Arthur W. Pinkham's mother, Mrs. Charles Hacker Pinkham, Sr., died at her home in Lynn, Mass., Dec. 5, 1933, as a result of a shock suffered last Armistice Day. She was an active member of the King's Daughters, the North Shore Club, the Pullman Mission and the First Universalist Church. Besides Arthur Pinkham, she left five other children, of whom two are also Brown graduates, Daniel R. Pinkham '21 and Charles H. Pinkham '22.

1903

William A. Hart is engaged in publicity work, with his office, as well as his home, at 198 Calvin Street, Fall River, Mass.

Dr. William O. Rice is the new president of the Hospital Association of Rhode Island, having been elected at the annual meeting in December. Rice began his work as superintendent of Rhode Island Hospital the first of this month.

1904

Berrick Schloss is again director of the University Glee Club, Providence, which is now in the midst of its 23rd season.

Under the title of "The Champion of Nudism and a Prophecy That Erred," the Providence Sunday Journal of Nov. 26 carried a page article by Tom Savage on Ilsley Boone, managing editor of "The Nudist," and vigorous advocate of nudism. The prophecy referred to was the Class Prophecy which said that "Ilsley Boone would never, as long as he lived, be without his Prince Albert coat."

L. Earle Rowe, director of the Museum of the Rhode Island School of Design, was appointed last month to direct the Civil Works Administration art projects in Rhode Island. Working with him will be Royal B. Farnum, educational director of the School of Design.

1905

Harrington T. Anthony, in real estate and insurance in Spokane, Wash., under the firm name of Elmendorf & Anthony, Inc., is living at 809 East 26 Avenue, Spokane, we are reliably informed.

Ellery L. Wilson, vice president of the Rumford Chemical Company, was elected a director of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at the annual meeting in Roanoke, Va., last month.

Paul C. DeWolf is chairman of the Brown University Athletic Council for this academic year.

1906

Rev. Horace E. Chandler's present address is 834 Ridge Avenue, N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Edgar S. Brightman, Bowne Professor of Philosophy at Boston University, gave the address at the November meeting of the Rhode Island Ministers' Union which was held in Marston Hall on the Brown campus. His subject was "Morality and Religion."

Henry G. Jackson's daughter, Miss Harriet Woolford Jackson, was married to Leroy M. Barber of Whitinsville, Mass., Nov. 29, 1933.

1907

A. E. (Bert) White is a member of the Executive Committee of the American Society for Testing Metals. At the time of his election, the American Society of Testing Materials Bulletin carried his picture and this excellent sketch of him: "A. E. White, Professor of Metallurgical Engineering and Director, Department of Engineering Research, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, is a graduate of Brown University, 1907. He was in charge of research on blast-furnace by-products, ores, etc., for Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. until 1911 when he became instructor at the University of Michigan. He was assistant professor 1913 to 1917. From 1917 to 1919 he was head of the metallurgical inspection division, Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army. He was appointed to his present positions in 1920."

Earle A. Harrington reports that his present mail address is Box 173, North Wales, Pa. Harrington has been in the lumber business since he left college in 1904 and is identified with North Carolina interests.

Henry G. Clark has closed his house on the Post Road, Wakefield, R. I., and is living at the University Club in Providence during this winter.

A. H. Gurney gave a radio talk, "The New Leisure Time and the Theatre," over Station WEAN, Providence and Boston, Nov. 20. Al was associate dramatic reviewer of the Providence Journal for about ten years, and the theatre is still one of his hobbies.

Report is that Professor Z. Chafee, Jr., of the Harvard Law School is writing a book which is taking most of his spare hours at the present time.

1908

J. O. (Hap) Hazard, State Forester of Tennessee, is co-operating with the Tennessee Valley Authority, which has plans under way for a vast soil erosion program and for other forestry activities in Hap's territory.

Rev. Albert C. (Tommy) Thomas of the First Baptist Church, Fall River, was one of the speakers at the Advent noonday services held in Grace Church, Providence, last month.

Former Governor Norman S. Case and Mrs. Case were guests of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House on Dec. 11 and 12. The Cases and the Roosevelts became friends several years ago when Norman was chairman of the executive committee of the Governors' Conference, and President Roosevelt, then Governor of New York, was a member of the committee.

1909

The following committees have been named for the 25th Reunion, to be held next June: Providence: Sherwood, chairman, Poland, Tanner, Leach, Littlefield, Miller, Buss, Connolly, Hollen, A. M. Chace, and Chafee and Wheeler, ex-officio; New York: Hughes; Boston: Kirley; Chicago: Mayer.

Billy Miller and Henry Chafee are members of the Committee on the 1934 Historical Catalogue of Brown University, of which Dr. H. C. Bumpus '84 is chairman.

E. L. Chandler is still getting his mail at 38 Twelfth Street, New London, Conn., and his son, Lawrence, is a student at Bulkeley School in that city. During the past fall Mr. and Mrs. Chandler went on a motor trip to Ontario.

Herb Sturdy and Mrs. Sturdy are spending the winter months at Daytona Beach, Fla.

1910

Warren C. Johnson's son, Warren C. Johnson, Jr., played end on the Cranston, R. I., High School football eleven last fall, and showed excellent ability for a beginner. Cranston had one of the two best schoolboy teams in Rhode Island in 1933.

1911

Charles P. Sisson, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States and for the past year chairman of the Rhode Island State Republican Committee, retired from the last-named post last month. He was succeeded by Ernest L. Sprague, for many years Secretary of State. Sisson plans to devote all of his time to his law practice as a member of the firm of Sisson & Fletcher, 1408 Turks Head Building.

1913

Karl H. Koopman, resident of Los Angeles for a number of years, has returned to this part of the country, with his present address at 65 Morningside Avenue, New York City.

1914

David C. Adelman was elected president of the Touro Fraternal Association of Providence at the annual meeting held in December.

1915

Harold M. Jackson is with Transit Advertisers, Inc., North Station, Boston, and lives at 2 Lee Street, Marblehead, Mass.

George H. A. La Roe's present business address is Dermure, Ltd., 599 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

1916

John P. Palmer has become a director of the Housatonic National Bank, Stockbridge, Mass., with which he has been connected since February, 1922. He started as a teller and became in turn assistant cashier, cashier and clerk of the Board of Directors. He will continue as clerk. He is the ninth cashier of the bank in its 108 years of existence, the Berkshire Evening Eagle of Pittsfield said.

Newton P. Leonard of the Faculty of the Hope Street High School, Providence, is enrolled in the Graduate School at Brown this year for advanced work in chemistry. Leonard is treasurer of the Men's High School Teachers' Association of Rhode Island.

Albert E. Mayoh of the Central High School, Providence, is vice president for 1934 of the Men's High School Association of Rhode Island.

Charles J. Hill is chairman of the special committee of the Associated Alumni appointed last month to discuss with Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24, Director of Admissions, and other members of the University Administration how the Associated Alumni can best aid the Admissions Office in increasing the number of desirable applicants for admission to Brown.

Allen McKinnon is with Canadian Lactex, Ltd., a branch of the United States Rubber Company, and his address is 1665 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

Francis J. Brady was re-elected chairman of the Providence School Committee by unanimous vote at the annual meeting held last month.

1917

Frank C. Cambio is a member of the Board of Governors of the Italo-American Club of Providence, having been elected at the 27th annual meeting held late in November. The club's program aims to promote better understanding among racial groups and to show the way to community progress.

1918

Dwight Colley, assistant manager of sales for the Atlantic Refining Company, with his office in Providence, is on the executive committee of the Rhode Island Police Research Association, organized by a bipartisan group as "a permanent agency for maintaining the Rhode Island police free from political influence and corruption."

O. P. Beauvais reports a change of address from Detroit to 7 Ringgold Street, Boston, Mass.

1919

Arthur J. Levy has begun his fifth term as president of the Jewish Family Welfare Society of Providence. He was re-elected at the annual meeting, Dec. 17.

1920

Richmond L. Watson is director of research with the J. Walter Thompson Company, advertising, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Edward J. Walsh, comptroller with the International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation at Defensa 143, Buenos Aires, lives at Avenida Forest 1675, Belgrano, Argentina.

Howard C. Sweet is in the insurance business at 123 William Street, New York City. He lives at 901 Summit Avenue, Westfield, N. J.

Dutée J. Hall is with Prentice-Hall, Inc., publishers, 90 Broad Street, New York City.

S. H. Shefelman, member of the law firm of Weter, Roberts & Shefelman, 1612 Northern Life Tower, Seattle, Wash., is now living at 3620 42nd Avenue, N. E., Seattle.

George H. Rhodes, former chemist with the Slatersville Finishing Company, has become research chemist with the American Printing Company, Fall River, Mass. George's father, Waldo P. Rhodes, treasurer of the J. A. Foster Company of Providence, died late in November after a short illness.

1921

Rev. Herbert E. MacCombie, pastor of the Elmwood Baptist Church, spoke on character building in children at the meeting of the board of managers of the Rhode Island State Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations in Barrington, R. I., last month.

Byron E. Mitchell reports that he is a salesman with the Blaisdell Automobile Company and is now living at 87 Highland Avenue, Dexter, Me.

1922

Chapin S. Newhard's member firm of the New York Stock Exchange is now titled Newhard, Cook & Company. The old name was Ruxton, Newhard & Cook. The change became effective Jan. 1.

Rev. Frederick S. Gallup is pastor of the First Baptist Church, Steelton, Pa.

1923

Allen B. Sikes, research manager of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, came back to Providence one day in November to talk on "Newspapers, a National Habit and How It Became a Universal Advertising Medium," before the Town Criers of Rhode Island. Al put it right up to the Criers that the newspaper is "the best advertising medium through which producers may meet consumers" and told a great deal about the circulation, the appeal to men, women and children, and the sharp local focus of the newspaper. He also had some interesting things to say of magazines and the radio as advertising mediums.

Walter Waldau, with the law firm of Lindabury, Depue & Falk, reports his new house address to be 185 Roseville Avenue, Newark, N. J.

1924

Al Parsons had been duly appointed Custodian of the Archives of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity, in the national work of which he has taken hearty interest since he went away from College Hill.

The corporate name of Fertig, Slavitt & Gaffney, Inc., advertising, of which Phil Lukin is vice-president, has been changed to Lawrence Fertig & Company, Inc. The address continues to be at 150 Madison Avenue, New York City.

1925

H. Vinton Potter is store manager for the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company in Pawtucket, and he tells us that he finds the work exceedingly interesting, "as there are so many phases to public utility sales and promotional work." He and Mrs. Potter and their new daughter, Beverly, are living at 270 Hillside Avenue, Pawtucket.

Herbert W. Spink teaches civics and also acts as a guidance teacher at the Gilbert Stuart Junior High School and is living at 101 Brown Street, Apt. 9, Providence, almost in the shadow of the University.

E. L. (Red) Nevens is assistant manager of the S. S. Kresge Company store at 5015 Church Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and lives at 1654 Schenectady Avenue in that city.

Otto P. Burkard is a practicing attorney at 57-38 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. His home is at 109-10 Park Lane South, Kew Gardens, N. Y.

E. A. (Bus) Smith, Jr., and his family have deserted Providence for Irvington, N. J., where Bus is president of Smith-Corwin, Inc., manufacturers of paint, varnish and lacquer.

Ralph M. Brown and Mrs. Brown held a housewarming at their new home in Wilmette, Ill., Nov. 25, and entertained a number of Brunonian among their many guests. Brown is the new vice-president of the Central District of the Associated Alumni. He is active in the work of the Brown University Club of Chicago.

1926

Horace Mazet, about whose new book "Shark! Shark!", we shall have a report in a subsequent issue, has received a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve, Aviation Section. He spent three years in the Army Air Corps Reserve and saw considerable actual work. We have heard on reliable authority that Horace was in several moving pictures in Hollywood last summer. One of them was "The Right to Romance" with Ann Harding, in which he was all dressed up like a doctor, thus imitating his brother Bob '24, "who slaved for seven years to become a doctor." His business address is 614 Livingston Hall, Columbia University, New York City.

Ernie Intlehouse, writing from Galveston, Tex., where he is agency secretary of the American National Insurance Company, says that a postcard we sent him "made me just a lot more homesick for dear old Providence and Brown. After batting around most of the United States for the last two years, I am convinced that Rhode Island is a mighty good place to live. Hope that I will get back there in the not too distant future." He reported his new daughter, Nancy Jo to be doing nicely, thank you.

Bill Cruise is with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in Jersey City and is living at 52 N. Arlington Road, East Orange.

Dick Formidoni's new mail address is 295 Bellevue Avenue, Trenton, N. J.

Bill Widnall and Mrs. Widnall are occupying their new apartment at 275 Engle Street, Englewood, N. J. Bill is practising law at 29 Park Place, Englewood.

Carl H. Porter-Shirley is superintendent of schools in East Greenwich, R. I.

Phil Jordan is manager of the Morton Hotel, Grand Rapids, Mich., going there from a hotel in Detroit. One of the Grand Rapids newspapers recently had a cartoon of Phil, showing that he went to Brown for his education, that he had ambitions to become a sailor and see the world, that his favorite amusement is football and his favorite sport, bridge (or maybe it's poker), and that he plays golf, "but would rather not talk about his scores."

Charlie Conklin is practising law at 142 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Bob Adams is working for the Atlas Supply Company at 744 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

1927

Dr. Francis H. Chafee has returned from New York to Providence and is practising medicine, with his office at 454 Angell

WANTED

ANYTHING relating to Brown University, from 1855 through 1858, photographs, scrap-books, letters, etc. Write, giving detailed description and stating price, to—

Post Office Box 23
Elmwood Station
Providence, R. I.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Street (where Dr. Alexander M. Burgess '06, Dr. Emery M. Porter '06, Dr. H. A. Lawson '20, and Dr. Robert R. Baldridge '21 are located). Dr. Chafee and Mrs. Chafee and their young son are living at 20 Young Orchard Avenue.

Ken Anderson, with Lamont-Corliss, 131 Hudson Street, New York City, writes cheerfully: "Between the Brown Club, some two piano work, bridge, and my sales control and analysis work for Ponds and Nestle, life is anything but threadbare."

Dr. Orland Smith is an interne at the Providence Lying-In Hospital and is living at 46 Radcliffe Street.

Arthur J. Barry, Jr., director of Barry Boys American Tour, is making plans for the fourth year of his interesting work. Last summer Art took his party of boys on a tour of Europe, showing them seven countries and giving them a first-hand glimpse of Germany, the Nazis, and similar phenomena. Because of the political unrest in Europe, and because the value of the American dollar abroad isn't what it used to be, Art expects to point his ship next summer to California by way of the Panama Canal. He has his headquarters at the Yale University Club, 50 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City. In his travels Art has met many Brown men: "they seem to be scattered all over the globe," he says.

Bob Buckley has taken Horace Greeley's advice (it's old, but still fairly good, he says) and gone West. He is in Chicago, where his headquarters are at 1520 Palmolive Building. He is advertising representative for the Butterick Publishing Company.

1928

Dick Gurney is a member of the Faculty of Texas Country Day School, Preston Boulevard and Walnut Hill Lane, Dallas, Texas.

George Adams, who is with the C. I. T. Corporation in Jersey City, N. J., writes that he is now living at 1 East Harriet Avenue, Morsemere, N. J.

Bob Asbury is a research chemist at the Carnegie Institute of Technology and gets his mail at 526 Bigham Road, Chatham Village, Pittsburgh, Pa. Bob holds a Master of Science degree in chemistry from M.I.T.

Dr. Louis Pomiansky, who received his D.M.D. from Tufts College Dental School last June, is practising dentistry at 90 Camp Street, Providence.

Tom Paolino, running on a Republican-Fusion ticket, was the unsuccessful candidate for State Senator from the Fourth Providence District to succeed Senator Isabelle Ahearn O'Neill, Democrat, resigned. The election, a special one, took place Dec. 21, and Tom made a good fight of it. But the district is overwhelmingly Democratic, and he did not have a chance from the beginning.

1929

Don Cruise is a draftsman with the Electric Boat Company, builder of submarines, Groton, Conn. His home is at 90 Stuart Avenue, New London, Conn., from which city he came to Brown.

Bill Gerry is living at 122 East 34th Street, New York City, where he is engaged in writing and reviewing for the magazines and newspapers.

Victor Smith, former reporter on the Providence Journal and for the past two years a member of the editorial staff of the Providence Visitor, the organ of the Roman Catholic Church in Rhode Island, has entered the Cistercian Order at Our Lady of the Valley Monastery in Cumberland, Rhode Island.

1930

Bob Albisser and Mrs. Albisser are comfortably settled in their new home at 192 Pierpont Street, Rahway, N. J. Bob is in the cost department of Merck & Company, Inc., Rahway.

1931

Dick Eldridge is completing his third year of resident full time work in the classics at Princeton, and is looking forward to obtaining his Ph.D. degree next June. He is Theodore Schuyler Scholar this year.

Wes Noble is with the brokerage firm of G. M. P. Murphy & Company in the branch office at 28 North Street, Pittsfield, Mass.

Don Clayton, instructor in history at the Providence Evening High School, became a pioneer one night last month when he showed the Yale film, "The Declaration of Independence," before his classes. It was the first time, the Providence Journal said, that visual education has entered the curriculum of the evening schools.

Paul E. Monahan has the sympathy of the class in the loss of his mother, who died in Wakefield, R. I., Dec. 11, 1933.

Clair Corey has the jump on all of us when it comes to children. In another column we report the arrival of Alfred Burdick Corey (he was named for his birthplace, Alfred, N. Y., and his mother, who was Ruth V. Burdick) who is Clair's second youngster. Mary Jane Corey, going on 17 months old, now becomes "big sister."

1932

Herb Astmann is merchandise manager for Venus Pastry Flour. He is living at 241 Meeting Street, Providence.

Milton Bennett is in advertising work with John W. Haley '19 and has his office at the J. C. Hall Company, Providence.

Bill Goldberg and Alan Cusick recently received awards of Faculty Scholarships at the Harvard Law School.

J. G. (Tom) Sawyer is in the retail sales department of the Texas Company in Brooklyn, and is living, he writes, at 4706 46th Street, Woodside, N. Y.

1933

Roland Brown is working for the A. S. Lawrence Leather Company, Peabody, Mass.

Herb Anderson is learning something about the practical side of electrical work with the Narragansett Electric Company, Providence.

Warren Miller is a salesman with the H. T. Miller Company in the old home city of Troy, N. Y., where he lives at 2325 15th Street.

John Brogden, Tom Capasso, Carl Carlsson, Jim Covell, Dave Davidson, Mort Ferrer, Jr., Earle Harvey, Charlie Jones, Carl Pfaffmann, Dave Straight, Don Whittemore and Johnny Wildman are all enrolled in the Graduate School at the University as candidates for the A.M. degree in their special subjects.

Fred Arnold, Mel Aselton, Bob Brickley, Maurice Taylor, Leo Tobak, Jack Flynn, Harry Chernock, Olie Neidlinger, Ed Rogers, Dan Rider, Phil Straffin, Art Justin and Harold Rosenberg are first year students at the Harvard Law School. There's a delegation of 13, and is anybody superstitious?

Opie Stillman, we hear, has been making a trip around the world preparatory to going into training to become a diplomat.

ENGAGEMENTS

Miss Dorothy Irwin Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Bradley of Philadelphia, to Chauncey T. Langdon '18, of Providence and Philadelphia.

Miss Diana Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Scott of Providence, to W. Chesley Worthington '23, also of Providence.

Miss Florence Katherine Shortau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Shortau of Little Falls, N. J., to Addison B. Poland '25, of Newark, N. J.

Miss Jessie Tredway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Page Tredway of Little Falls, N. J., to Archibald C. Matteson, Jr., '33, of Providence.

Miss Eliza Williams Taft, daughter of Edward P. Taft '04 and Mrs. Taft of Augusta, Ga., to Clarkson A. Collins, 3rd, '33, of Providence.

* * *

WEDDINGS

1925—Dr. Arthur R. Beil and Miss Bessie Ann Sidlo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sidlo of Lorain, O., were married in Lorain, July 22, 1933. They are living at 534 2nd Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., where Dr. Beil is resident obstetrician at Methodist Episcopal Hospital.

1926—Garrett T. Green and Miss Virginia Russell Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy T. Phillips of Pawtucket, were married in New York City, Dec. 16, 1933. They are at home at 49 Park Avenue, Bloomfield, N. J.

1929—Walter C. Fisher and Miss Blanche Evelyn Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Williams of Philadelphia, were married in New York City, Nov. 30, 1933. They are living at the Nautilus Beach Club, Atlantic Beach, L. I., N. Y.

1929—J. Robert B. Perkins and Miss Elvera M. DeMuth, daughter of Mrs. Bertha DeMuth, were married in Paterson, N. J., Nov. 29, 1933. They are at home at 258 Liberty Street, Paterson.

1930—William E. Bennett and Miss Olive Alberta Hofeditz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Hofeditz, were married in Providence, Dec. 9, 1933. Raymond S. Beach '32 of Farmington, Conn., and Robert G. Tyrrell '32 of Torrington, Conn., were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are at home at 23 Cook Street, Torrington.

1930—William Ronald Gill and Miss Bernice Gwendolyn Mott, daughter of Mrs. Clossie A. Mott of Block Island, were married in Staten Island, N. Y., Dec. 2, 1933. Samuel D. Mott '32, brother of the bride, was best man. They are living in New York City.

* * *

BIRTHS

1918—To Professor and Mrs. William W. Russell of East Providence, a son, William Walker Russell, Jr., Dec. 10, 1933.

1920—To Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith (Dr. Clara Loitman Smith) of Providence, a daughter, Ruth Loitman, Nov. 28, 1933.

1921n—To Mr. and Mrs. Stanley T. Black of Saylesville Heights, R. I., a son, Charles Owen, Nov. 16, 1933.

1922, special—To Mr. and Mrs. T. John Lyons of Westerly, R. I., a son, John Keilty, Dec. 14, 1933.

1924—To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Somers of Marblehead, Mass., a daughter, Sally Buffington, Dec. 4, 1933.

THE SYMBOL OF
SERVICE

WELL-KNOWN to millions of telephone users is the circular emblem of the Bell System. Its importance is not in its plain and simple design but in what it represents. Back of it is the far-flung organization that enables you to talk to almost any one—anywhere—at any time. It is the mark of a friendly service.

The Bell System consists of twenty-four regional companies, each attuned to the needs of the territory it serves. There is also the Bell Telephone Laboratories, working ceaselessly and scientifically to improve the scope and value of your telephone. There is the Western Electric Company, specializing in the economical production of telephone equipment of the highest quality. Co-ordinating and assisting the work of the operating companies, Bell Laboratories and Western Electric, is the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. It looks upon the operation of telephone service as a public trust and is owned largely by the people it serves.

There are today nearly 700,000 stockholders of American Telephone and Telegraph. They represent a cross-section of the American people; they come from every walk of life and live in every state of the Union. Yet no one owns as much as one per cent of its stock.

Everything has been planned and organized for one specific purpose—to give you the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost. That is the ideal and the goal. That is why the work of improvement goes steadily on.

A telephone serves you in many ways each day. It runs your errands; takes you to friends and brings them to you; speeds aid in emergency. It does these things and many more—for a few cents a day. The Business Office of your local Bell Telephone Company, or any employee, will gladly take your order.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. Parkman Sayward of San Antonio, Tex., a son, Parkman Sayward, Jr., Nov. 28, 1933.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. William C. Waring, Jr., of Providence, a son, William C. Waring, 3rd, Nov. 30, 1933.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. H. Vinton Potter of Pawtucket, a daughter, Beverly Marion, Nov. 16, 1933.

1926—To Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Kilbourne, Jr., of Boston, Mass., a daughter, Carol Louise, April 12, 1933.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Alden R. Walls of Andover, Mass., a son, Alden Robert Walls, Jr., Dec. 11, 1933.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Clair C. Corey of Brookline, Mass., a son, Alfred Burdick, Nov. 22, 1933.

Those We Mourn

1873

REV. AUGUSTUS HEMENWAY FULLER, a minister of the Congregational Church for 55 years, died at his home in Ballardvale, Mass., Dec. 15, 1933. He retired in 1926, but was always available as a supply minister. His interest in preaching, as well as in all church matters, he kept ever alive and helpful. Born in Providence, April 24, 1849, the son of John B. and Augusta A. (Hemenway) Fuller, he prepared at Mowry & Goff's English and Classical School after graduating from Brown, began his contemplated career as a teacher in Bennington, Vt. He left Bennington in 1875, in which year he received his A.M. from Brown, and went to Uxbridge, Mass., where he taught for a year before entering Bangor Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1878. Ordained in the same year he was pastor at Mattapoisett, Mass., 1878-86; West Medway, Mass., 1886-89; Billerica, Mass., 1889-92; Easton, Mass., 1892-1904; and from 1904 to 1926 pastor of the Union Congregational Church in Ballardvale. This last-named pastorate was one of unusual length and effectiveness. Mr. Fuller was married June 7, 1882, to Miss Laura Eva Lyon of Lynn, Mass., who survives him, with two brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Ballardvale in 1932, and friends and acquaintances from many miles around came to congratulate "the much beloved couple."

* * *
1886

RALPH GODDARD POTTER, insurance executive, died in his apartment at the Edgemere Hotel, East Orange, N. J., Dec. 3, 1933, after a week's illness of pneumonia. Only a day or two before he was taken sick he wrote a letter to the Alumni Office, pleasantly referring to a mistake about his address and saying that he would look for the correction in the next issue of the ALUMNI MONTHLY. Born in Providence, Aug. 29, 1863, the son of Earl C. and Esther W. (Andrews) Potter, he prepared at the Providence High School and was a student at Brown for three years. Leaving college at the end of his Junior year in 1885, he was in turn a surveyor for the Sanborn Map and Don't Let Your Success In Life Depend On LUCK!

Maybe you possess a four-leaf clover, a rabbit's foot or a horseshoe — BUT don't risk depending for tomorrow's success on these tokens.

Old Colony's Systematic Saving plans provide a tried and practical method for attaining the things in life which seem most worthwhile to you. They are flexible enough to be easily adapted to any income or desired rate of saving.

Come in or call GASpee 3138 for the booklet titled "Old Colony Ways to Make and Save Money." It will be interesting reading for you.

OLD COLONY
CO-OPERATIVE BANK
58 WEYBOSSET ST., PROVIDENCE
WONSOCKET - WEST WARWICK - GREYSTONE - PAWTUCKET
MEMBER, FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM

Systematic Saving Spells Success

PRESCRIPTIONS

...exactly as written

When a doctor's prescription comes to us for compounding we consider it as a means toward someone's good health. Accordingly we practice utmost accuracy in compounding, using the finest quality ingredients the world affords.

Bring YOUR prescriptions here.

BLANDING'S

160 Westminster St. 6 Wayland Square

Publishing Company, 1886-89; inspector for the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of New York, 1889-91; inspector with the Middle States Inspection Bureau, 1891-97; inspector of sprinklered risks for the Underwriters' Association of New York State and member of the Board of Consulting Engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, 1897-1903; special agent of the German American and German Alliance Insurance Companies in Central New York, 1903-12; secretary and treasurer of the Underwriters' Association of New York State, 1912-19; executive special agent of the Tokio Marine & Fire Insurance Company, New York City, 1919-23; and secretary of the Eastern Union from 1923 to the beginning of 1933. He was an authority on matters relating to water supply and fire protection, and he had wide acquaintance among insurance officials. He was married in December, 1889, to Johanna E. M. Bollenhagen, who survives him, with two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Shedd of Chatham, N. J., and Mrs. Robert C. France of Cobleskill, N. Y. His fraternity was Alpha Delta Phi.

* * *
1890

PROFESSOR LYMAN CHURCHILL NEWELL, internationally known for his work in the field of chemistry and for 29 years a member of the Faculty of Boston University, died suddenly at his home in Brookline, Mass., Dec. 13, 1933. Death was the result of a heart attack. The Boston Globe said: "The recipient of medals and other honors for his work, Dr. Newell was especially active in the American Chemical Society, the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences."

Born in Pawtucket, Sept. 18, 1867, the son of George W. and Ellen (Reed) Newell, he came to Brown from the Pawtucket High School and shone as a student. After graduation he taught chemistry on the Hill for a year and in 1891 received his A.M. degree in that subject. Then he went back to Pawtucket High School to teach, but resigned at the end of a year to go to the Johns Hopkins University to do graduate work in chemistry. He majored in organic chemistry under Ira Remsen, studied mineralogy as his minor subject, and won his Ph.D. in 1895. His first assignment was teacher of chemistry and German at the English High School, Somerville, Mass., where he organized the chemistry department and equipped a new laboratory. From 1898 to 1904 he taught chemistry in the newly established State Normal School at Lowell, Mass., and in 1904 he went to Boston University, for whose department of chemistry and laboratory he is almost solely responsible.

"His department at present," said a writer (Tenney L. Davis) a year ago, "consists of three men professors, one woman instructor, and requisite assistants and secretaries. It is a busy department which has turned out many successful chemists and teachers of chemistry." Newell himself was always a busy man, what with his experimentation, writings, teaching, and much administrative work. "In study and writing on the history of chemistry," Mr. Davis said, "he finds relief from his other duties and renewed energy for a more vigorous attack upon them." He wrote "Experimental Chemistry," 1900; "Descriptive Chemistry," 1903; "Qualitative Analysis," 1905;

"Inorganic Chemistry for Colleges," 1909; "Laboratory Manual of Inorganic Chemistry," 1916; "Practical Chemistry," 1922; "Experiments in Practical Chemistry," 1923; and many miscellaneous articles on education, travel, and science. He loved to write verses for children; he also wrote some delightful ones for grown-ups. Other hobbies were music and the garden at his summer home in Ogunquit, Me. He was likewise an ardent collector of autographed letters of chemists, and of special material relating to chemists and chemistry. He was the first president of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers; he served as an editor of the Journal of Chemical Education, with historical chemistry as his subject; he was a member of the American Chemical Society, in whose councils, local and national, he stood high, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and Delta Upsilon. He was a foundation member of the History of Science Society, and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Nor must his valuable service as chairman of the national committee for collecting historical material about chemistry be overlooked. In 1930 he received the Justus von Liebig Medal from Giessen University, Germany, in recognition of this work.

Dr. Newell was married Sept. 7, 1898, to Miss Carolyn E. Strong, who survives, together with three brothers. Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, President of Boston University, officiated at the funeral, and Professor N. W. Rakestraw of the Department of Chemistry at Brown was an honorary pallbearer.

* * *
1897

JOHN WHITMAN EMERY, special student with the class for two years, or until the fall of 1895, died at the Maine General Hospital, Portland, Me., Oct. 30, 1933. He had been ill for some time. Born in Bridgton, Me., Feb. 1, 1871, the son of George W. and Miranda J. (Fowler) Emery, he prepared at Bridgton Academy and Westbrook Seminary. In the years since he left Brown he had been assistant inspector of milk in Providence, deputy sheriff in Portland, assistant superintendent of the Maine School for Boys, and farmer. He was never married. In college he affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega.

* * *
1905

RALPH GRANVILLE OSTBY, manufacturer, jeweler, died at the Jane Brown Hospital, Providence, Dec. 12, 1933, after an illness of one week. Born in Providence, May 20, 1882, the son of Englehart C. and Lizzie M. (Webster) Ostby, he prepared at the Hope Street High School, where he was prominent in athletics. At Brown he was a member of the class baseball team for two years, on the University baseball squad in Junior year, and a member of the Brown hockey team in Freshman and Sophomore years. He also served as treasurer of the Sophomore Ball Committee and Chairman of the Junior Prom Committee. He belonged to Pi Kappa and Zeta Psi.

Although he remained four years on the Hill he did not take a degree. He went straightway into business with the Ostby and Barton Company, manufacturing jewelers, of which his father was the head, and continued with the company until his death. He was married Jan. 10, 1913, to Miss Dorothy Bucklin of Providence, who survives him, with a son, Ralph G. Ostby, Jr., and three daughters, Dorothy, Barbara, and Jessie H. Ostby. There are also three brothers, Harold W. Ostby, '99n, Erling C. Ostby, and Raymond E. Ostby, and a sister, Miss Helen Ostby.

* * *
1906

LESTER LEOPOLD FALK, practising attorney in Chicago since 1909, civic leader, and active Brown alumnus, died at his home of a cerebral hemorrhage, Nov. 22, 1933. He was recuperating from a severe illness and seemed to be definitely on the road to recovery when the fatal attack came. News of his death was a shock to his many friends and co-workers in Chicago and on College Hill. Born in Chicago, June 25, 1885, the son of Maximilian L. and Bertha (Leopold) Falk, he prepared at Armour Institute, Chicago, and at Brown was a Carpenter prize winner, prominent in debating, the Sock and Buskin, the Brown Yacht Club, and the Sphinx Club. He wrote for the Brown Daily Herald, won first prize in the Hicks Prize Debate in his Sophomore year, managed the Brown swimming team, served as president of the Triangular Intercollegiate Debating League (Brown, Dartmouth and Williams) and was second speaker at the Class Tree on Class Day, 1906. His fraternity was Delta Kappa Epsilon.

From Brown he went to Harvard Law School, received his LL.B. in 1909, and at once became a member of the Illinois bar. He joined the firm of Scott, Bancroft, Martin & MacLeish and remained with it until his death. In 1930 the name of the firm became Scott, MacLeish and Falk. At the

Providence National Bank

ESTABLISHED 1791

CAPITAL.....$1,500,000
SURPLUS.....$2,500,000

Main Office—100 Westminster Street
Branch—Corner Empire and Washington Sts.

Moses J. Barber, Chairman of the Board
Thomas L. Pierce, President
Earl G. Batty, Vice President and Cashier
Charles M. Smith, III, Trust Officer
Frank L. Sawyer, Assistant Cashier
George A. Freeman, Assistant Cashier
Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
Henry H. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
T. I. Hare Powel, Investment Counsel

Empire St. Branch, Frank L. Sawyer, Manager
Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Manager

Directors

Charles H. Newell	Wilson G. Wing
William Gammell, Jr.	John Nicholas Brown
Moses J. Barber	Thomas L. Pierce
Paul C. DeWolf	Lauriston H. Hazard
Frank E. Richmond	William L. Sweet
Richard S. Aldrich	Frederick T. Moses
Edward P. Jastram	John Ormsbee Ames
Earl G. Batty	Willard I. Angell
A. Livingston Kelley	John B. Lewis
Charles C. Marshall

BROWN DIRECTORY

ARTHUR H. BLANCHARD, C. E., '99
CONSULTING ENGINEER

Highway Traffic Control
Highway Transport
Airport Runways and Landing Fields
Highway Engineering
Contract and Patent Lawsuits
Box C, Edgewood Station, Providence

PERRY, SAUNDERS & CHENEY
Counsellors at Law

185 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass.
JOSEPH EARLE PERRY, WILLIAMS
ALBERT L. SAUNDERS, BROWN, '1902
EDWIN A. CHENEY, Boston Uni., 1917

HARRIS and GIFFORD
Certified Public Accountants

at
840 HOSPITAL TRUST BUILDING
PROVIDENCE, R. I.
GASPEE 7272

Audits — — Systems Business Research
Taxes and Surveys

Winship Teachers' Agency

SEND FOR BLANK

6 BEACON STREET, BOSTON, MASS

Alvin F. Pease

Brown Graduate, A. B. & A. M.

Lydia L. Adams

Secretarial Service

Typing and Stenography
Mimeographing and Multigraphing
Graduate Theses

1203 INDUSTRIAL TRUST BUILDING
DEXTER 1244

entrance of the United States into the World War Falk enlisted for the First Officers' Training Camp, Fort Sheridan, Ill., took commission as First Lieutenant, Field Artillery, and received assignment to the 309 F. A., Camp Dix, N. J. With that regiment he went overseas. In August, 1918, he became a member of the Artillery Staff, First Army Corps, A. E. F., and in October, 1918, was made a Captain. After the armistice he transferred to the Fourth Section, General Staff, Third Army, which was the Army of Occupation in Germany. He returned home in June, 1919, as a Major, and at the time of his death was Lieutenant Colonel, 404th Field Artillery Reserve.

Falk was a leader in the Brown University Club of Chicago, a proponent of the Regional Plan under which the Associated Alumni now operates, and was a member of the Advisory Council. He belonged to the Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations, the Chicago Historical Society, the Chicago Zoological Society, of which he was a trustee, the Law Club, the Tavern Club, the Lake Shore Club, the Union League Club, of which he was a chairman of the public affairs committee, and was a director of several companies. An expert in tax matters, he had been engaged in a successful court battle shortly before his last sickness to aid property owners seeking a reduction in assessments. He was also a trustee of Armour Institute and a member of the Chamber of Commerce committee organized to fight crime in Chicago. His mother and a sister, Miss Amy Falk, survive him, and to them the full sympathy of the class is given.

* * *
1912

CHESTER WARREN SPAULDING, died in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 29, 1933, according to word received at the Alumni Office last month. He had been in motor car sales work for most of the years since he left college at the end of Freshman year. Born in Kerhonkson, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1889, he came to Brown from the Poughkeepsie schools, and after returning to Poughkeepsie in 1909 took courses at Eastman Business College. Then, with his chief interest in automobiles, he entered the shops of F. I. A. T. in Poughkeepsie. After two years of practical work he and his cousin, Frank Spaulding, formed a partnership to sell and repair motor cars, and in 1915 he continued alone under the firm name of Chester W. Spaulding. In 1917 he gave up business to enroll at the Second Plattsburg Training Camp, where he received a commission as First Lieutenant, Infantry. He was a Captain at the time of his discharge in March, 1919. He did not go overseas.

On his discharge from the Army he went to work as a salesman for the Uppercu Cadillac Corporation of New York. He became assistant manager of the Poughkeepsie branch in 1924 and manager in 1925, and was active in the work until his last illness. Spaulding was indeed one of the best known younger residents of Poughkeepsie, and his social and civic activities were numerous. He was a member of the Military Order of the World War, the American Legion, the Amrita Club, the Euterpe Glee Club, the Dutchess County Rod and Gun Club, and Delta Kappa Epsilon. For some years he was chairman in Dutchess County for the C. M. T. C. training camps. He was married Dec. 6, 1919, to Anne Ormsby Davis of Brooklyn, N. Y., and there was a daughter, Shirley Davis Spaulding, born June 14, 1921. His second wife was Miss Margaret Murray of Staatsburg, N. Y., who survives him.

* * *
1922

GILBERT FOLLANSBEE MERRILL died in his home city of Malden, Mass., Nov. 22, 1933, after an illness that had practically incapacitated him for the past two years. Born in Malden, July 13, 1900, the son of William G. and Catharine M. (Follansbee) Merrill, he entered Brown from Malden High School and on the Hill won distinction as a student. He made Phi Beta Kappa in Senior year, and was active in the Sphinx Club, of which he was secretary; the English Club; and Sock and Buskin.

On graduation he went to work for the Brown Durrell Company, Boston; and in February, 1923, he joined the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Seeking a solid groundwork in publishing he started with the manufacturing division of the company and covered the entire procedure, as he himself once wrote, "in modern big-production proofroom with its contacts with both editorial and advertising departments." When illness forced him to give up work he was in charge of final proofs of all of the Curtis Company's magazines. He supplemented his practical experience with study of publishing methods, advertising technic and merchandising plans. He wanted to become an editor in fact, as well as to write, and he was on the quiet watch for an opportunity. He was married Nov. 11, 1922, to Miss Doris Cyr, who survives, with two daughters, Phyllis and Edith Merrill, and his parents. His fraternity was Phi Delta Theta.

advertisers engraving company

126 DORRANCE ST. PROVIDENCE, R. I.
TELEPHONE GASPEE 7094

"Picturize your Product"

Alumnae of Brown

By GERTRUDE ALLEN McCONNELL '10.
Executive Secretary of the Alumnae Association

1900—Lucy E. Cyr is spending the winter at the Belmont Hotel in St. Petersburg, Florida. She recently won laurels for the poem she submitted at an A. A. U. W. Christmas party.

1900—Helen Bliss Emerson will leave Providence on January 26th for a trip around the world. Her longest stop-over will be with her daughter, Mary Emerson Young, '27, and her grandson, James Emerson Young '54, in Tsingtao, China. In August she and Prof. Clare R. Bass '00, will meet in Carcassone and they will sail home together from Marseilles. Miss Bass will study in France during the summer.

1900—Helen Given Poor (Mrs. Charles M.) is spending the winter in Claremont, Florida.

1904—Linda M. Lowell has moved to 118 Eleventh St., Providence.

1905—Sarah Ross is enjoying life at the University of Wisconsin, and finds Madison an exceedingly interesting place.

1909—Dr. May Hall James writes that she has transmitted her research study to the Graduate School in Education at Yale and has been invited to present it for a Ph.D. The subject is "Chronicles of Old Lyme, Connecticut, with special reference to the Development of Public Education in Connecticut." She expects to complete her thesis in time to receive a Ph.D. in Educational Administration from Yale in June.

1913—The class has published an attractive pamphlet with a full account of its reunion activities in June.

1914—Mildred Flagg Burr (Mrs. Jerome) has moved from Springfield to 93 Crescent Hill Ave., Arlington Heights, Mass.

1914—Della E. Wood has moved to 75 North Owen Ave., Lansdowne, Penn.

1916—Dr. Clara Thompson has returned from Budapest, where she has been living for the past two years, and is now at 151 East 83rd St., New York City.

1919—Gladys Crapo Best is a buyer for Jelleff's in Washington, D. C.

1924—Charlotte Ferguson Roads (Mrs. W. H.) is living at the Valley Vista Apts., Belmont Road, Washington, D. C.

1925—Faith Rogers Corbett (Mrs. Roger) and her family are spending a few months in Washington, D. C. Her address until February 1st is 535 Cedar St., Takoma Park.

1925—The sincere sympathy of the alumnae is extended to Elinor Hall Small, whose husband, Clement C. Small, died in June, three months before her third baby was born.

1930—Honor McCusker has taken an apartment at 16, Great Ormond Street, W. C. 1, London, near the British Museum, and finds London friendly and delightful. Last year she lived at Crosby Hall.

1931—Mabelle L. Cullen is teaching science and coaching basketball at the Junior High School in Watertown, Conn.

1931—Josephine McIntire is assisting Dr. d'Elseau at the Boston Psychiatric Hospital.

1931—Roanna Robinson is a secretary and technician at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

1931—Eleanor N. Smith is Cheshire County Supervisor for the New Hampshire Relief Department with headquarters at the Court House in Keene.

1931—Helen Williams is teaching in the Junior High School in Auburn.

1932—Rowena Bellows has become a member of the Pembroke College staff. She is an assistant in the offices of the Director of Admissions and the Registrar, and is also preparing a pictorial booklet descriptive of the College.

1932—Barbara Evans has moved from Boston to 8 Chatham St., Worcester.

1932—Frances Young is Director of Religious Education for the Church of the Redeemer in Baltimore. She received her A.M. in religious education from Columbia last June.

1933—Jean Bauer will spend the winter in Florida, where she will enter a number of golf tournaments. Her headquarters will be in Coral Gables.

1933—Beatrice Bloomingdale has moved from Scarsdale to New York City for the winter and is living at 10 East 93rd Street. She is spending her afternoons making a survey of the applications for relief at the New York American's Relief Fund headquarters. She writes that she is "just 'helping out' the director of the fund."

1933—Helen Herz is studying for an M.A. in Education and History at Columbia.

ENGAGEMENT

1928—Margaret E. Rydberg to Irwin Taylor Sanders, Washington and Lee '29. Mr. Sanders is working for his Ph.D. degree at Cornell. The romance began in Bulgaria where both were teaching and the couple expect to make that country their future home.

WEDDINGS

1923—Catherine Winsper was married recently to J. Francis Finn. Mr. and Mrs. Finn are living at 15 Hanson St., North Providence.

1926—Claudine Walford is married to Albert M. Briggs and is living at 514 West 122nd St., New York City.

1928—Elizabeth Herr was married on December 16, 1933 to Benjamin M. Witmer. Mr. and Mrs. Witmer are living at 1934 Broadway, Hanover, Penn.

1930—Irene Burwick was married in August to Joseph E. Grace and is living at 16 Nevada St., Worcester, Mass.

1930—Lenore M. Sherer was married during the summer to Clinton Gleason. Mr. and Mrs. Gleason are living at 2071 Alton Road, East Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Gleason is continuing her work with the Associated Charities.

1931—Bernice G. Mott was married to William Ronald Gill '31, on December 2, 1933. Mr. and Mrs. Gill are living at 115 Stuyvesant Place, St. George, Staten Island, N. Y.

1932—Elizabeth Elaine Seman was married to Alfred Edward Toombs '31, on December 26, 1933. Mr. and Mrs. Toombs are living at 239 Woodford Street, Portland, Maine.

BIRTHS

1916—To Prof. and Mrs. Thomas F. Comber, Jr. (Adele Wildes), a daughter, Madeleine Clare Comber, on December 13, 1933.

1921—To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Harrington (Olive Briggs), twins, Raymond Chester, Jr. and Mignon Eliza, on June 8, 1933.

1925—To the late Mr. Clement C. Small and Mrs. Small (Elinor Hall), a son, Wayne Clement Small, on September 13, 1933.

1927—To Lieut. and Mrs. Edward W. Young (Mary Emerson), a son, James Emerson Young, on October 15, 1933 at Manila, P. I.

1927—To Rev. and Mrs. Leon Fallis Kenney (Ruth M. McColley), a daughter, Linnea Kenney, on November 20, 1933.

Commercial Banking Trust Department

Capital $500,000

Surplus and
Undivided Profits (over).... $950,000

BLACKSTONE CANAL NATIONAL BANK

Established 1831

20 MARKET SQUARE
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Helpful Ideas
Good Service
Full Value
In Printing

Roger Williams Press
E. A. JOHNSON Co.
71 PECK STREET / PROVIDENCE
Arthur S. Hassell '26 Ga. 4800

*Chesterfield—
I enjoy them a lot*

*...to me they're Milder
...to me they TASTE BETTER*

They Satisfy

DEC 1968

WATERBURY

